FROM LONDON.

THE BISMARCK-FAVRE INTERVIEW.

LONDON, September 23.—The particulars of the preliminary meeting between Jules Favre and Bismarck, in the chateau of Ferrers, are at hand. Bismarck received the French Minister with great courtesy, and opened the subject of peace negotiations at once. No result was reached. But in the course of the discussion Favre asserted that the Provisional Government could put Prussia in possession of such material guarantees as would make it certain that she could lose nothing by the effort after peace, even should the Constituent Assembly reject the treaty that might be agreed upon. He also declared that the commanders at Metz and Strasburg will obey any orders his Government might issue to them. In London there were some expectations that peace would be concluded on a basis of the temporary occupation of Alsace and Lorraine by the Prussians and by the surrender of Metz and Strasburg. In commercial circles, however, hope of peace is nearly abandoned. Prussia will insist on terms which no French Government would at present dare to accede to.

PROPOSITIONS BY M. FAVRE.

A special dispatch from Berlin to the Daily News says: M. Favre is understood to offer upon the part of the Provisional government of France the following concessions as the terms of peace: First, France is prepared to render complete indemnification to Prussia for the cost of the war. Second, she guarantees the demolition of all fortifications at Metz and Strasburg; and Third, she will surrender a portion of the French fleet.

TWO NOTES FROM BISMARCK.

The Prussian Moniteur, official organ, published at Berlin, contains two notes this morning from Bismarck to the Ambassadors of neutral powers to the North German Confederation, in relation to the propositions for peace now under consideration. The first note, dated the 13th, urges the necessity for better and stronger material guarantees against a new attack by France, and especially upon the States of South Germany, Bavaria, Wurtemburg and Baden. Hence the need on the part of Germany of possessing those fortresses which are now a perpetual menace.

In the second note Bismarck repudiates all idea of German intervention for the reorganization of France, but says: If Strasburg and Metz remain in French hands, they will be the offensive of France over powers defensive of Germany. The material guarantees alone will give peace, while France, retaining these places, will always [illegible] for to choose her own time for a renewal of hostilities. Germany asks only passive strength to resist such attacks.

The Times publishes a telegram from Berlin, dated yesterday, saying that Bismarck and Jules Favre were closeted all Wednesday and Thursday, the former insisting on the meeting of the Constituent Assembly to ratify the treaty. Favre conceded an indemnity for the cost of the war, the surrender of part of the fleet, the dismantling of Metz, Strasburg and possibly other fortifications.

THE GERMANS FORAGING.

The latest information from Paris states that the Prussians are occupying Nantes, twenty-nine miles north-west of Paris, and are engaged in foraging upon the inhabitants of the country adjacent. Heavy requisitions are being constantly made upon the citizens for supplies of all kinds.

A GERMAN VICTORY.

The garrison at Sevres, midway between Versailles and Paris, consisting of two thousand Gardes Mobiles, were captured by the Prussians to-day. The Mobiles met their foes with great determination at first, but were overpowered by a superior force of Prussians and compelled to surrender.

FAMINE SPREADING.

Information received through Prussian sources this evening, states that a terrible famine is spreading among all classes in the provinces of Alsace and Lorraine. The people have been so impoverished and stripped by troops and stragglers from both armies, that nothing now remains, and the greatest suffering and misery ensues.

The German Commissioners of Alsace and Lorraine have [illegible] the French inhabitants that all duties and import tariffs are abolished, in view of the probable annexation of those Provinces to the Confederation, and for the purpose of trying to avert the dreadful ravages of famine.

RUSSIA ARMING.

Notwithstanding reports to the contrary, it is most positively asserted this evening by those who know, that the Government of Russia is energetically engaged in the preparation of a thorough and perfect concentration of troops and armament. Large bodies of troops are in motion, and manufactories of arms and munitions of war are running day and night.

OCCUPATION OF MELUN.

The German troops occupied Melun, the Capital of the Department of the Seine and Marne, yesterday afternoon, after a feeble resistance by the French.

ORLEANS EVACUATED.

The Prussians are apparently preparing to move on Orleans, which has been evacuated by the French.

INTERNAL CONDITION OF FRANCE.

LONDON, September 23.—A Tribune correspondent has arrived from Lyons and Tours and brings an interesting account of the internal condition of France. [illegible] at Lyons [illegible] the Paris Government [illegible]. The town was quiet, except [illegible]. Five thousand men from the Rhone Valley were throwing up earthworks. Lyons is resolved to resist, if attacked. There were about forty thousand regulars in the city, mostly young volunteers, or old soldiers who were [illegible]. I travelled with a General coming from Oran who assured me that matters were serious in Algeria. A rising of Spanish and Italian colonists at Oran had been crushed with loss. The papers found showed Prussia was concerned in the affair. The foreign legion, containing many Germans, had mutinied. The Arabs blockading the frontier towns captured several trains, loaded with powder, flour and oats. We passed train after train of northern Mobile Guards going south to join the army, those from the towns wearing red and those from the country tri-color cockades. Train after train of people, drawn by locomotives belonging to the northern and western lines, were going south for safety. Reaching Varness we discovered that the Mobile Gardes of Maulins, St. German, Les Fosses and the country between were under orders to leave for Africa this day to free the regular troops still within the colony. At Vierzon, where we stopped four hours in the middle of the night, we were halted every one hundred yards by sentinels of the National Guard. Every hour a patrol with officers and lanterns in due form went round the town. The men were altogether in plain clothes, armed with muzzle loading cavalry carbines.

At towns I learned from excellent sources the French plan for national defense. All the Mobiles and young regulars now scattered over the southern towns are to be concentrated in some one of them. No open town is to be defended in the north, but the fortified places of Lille, Abbeville, Dunkirk, Calais, Cherburg and Brest are prepared to stand a siege. Havre, which has an exceedingly strong fort on the hill, is being strengthened with lines like those at Lyons, but Rouen is to be abandoned to the enemy. The southern army, when concentrated, is to wait until it is possible for a movement. When one of the great outer forts of Paris has been taken, and the bombardment of the town commences, the army marches north against the Prussians.

As to military preparations in general, there is abundance of men. Small arms are exceedingly scarce, and there is great difficulty in getting even smooth bores, muzzle loaders. Further supplies are expected shortly from England and elsewhere. Ammunition is still more difficult. Cavalry and artillery scarcely exist, and there is no hope of providing either in time for operations affecting Paris.

From Tours I came straight through by L. Mans, Rouen and Amiens to Calais. The French expect the Prussians will march from Beauvais upon Rouen and Amiens and so cut off north eastern France. Mails will soon be sent by Cherburg instead of Havre. It will, however, be just as easy for the Prussians to march from Rambouillet upon Alencon and so cut off the whole northern from central and southern France. St. Malo alone would remain open for the London mail.

THE INTERVIEW WITH FAVRE—OFFICIAL ACCOUNT.

A correspondent of the Tribune telegraphs from Berlin 23d: Official advices from headquarters report that Jules Favre was present. The first point considered was whether the Constituent Assembly about to be chosen could be relied on to recognize a treaty made with the Favre government. Favre is understood to offer as terms an indemnification of the cost of the war, the demolition of the fortifications at Metz and Strasburg and surrender of part of the French fleet.

WHAT GARIBALDI THINKS.

A special correspondent of the Tribune at Florence writes, 18th: Garibaldi writes he has received no answer from the French Government and that "the rubbish or scum which calls itself the Italian Government keeps me a prisoner." He has neither been allowed to leave Caprera nor receive any message. The Italian Government, upon being questioned, answer that owing to their neutrality they have refused to consent to Garibaldi's departure. When Favre offered a French frigate, the Italian Government replied they deemed such an act direct hostility.

The Prefect of Lyons telegraphs: "We await Garibaldi. Enlistments continue. Will he come?"

This telegram was stopped. The Government would be glad to get rid of Garibaldi, but they dare not offend Prussia.

The French Minister telegraphed, "If we can get him, we are saved. If not, shall do what we can."

THE INVESTMENT OF PARIS.

The correspondent of the Tribune at Berlin telegraphs, Thursday evening, that the official statement of the military situation declares the investment of Paris completed to the full extent deemed requisite for strategical purposes. The troops while marching to be assigned to positions met no resistance, except on the south side of the city. The attempted defence in the open field was completely frustrated by the defeat of Gen. Vinoy's division on the 19th.

BOMBARDMENT OF TOUL.

The bombardment of Toul has been energetically continued since the 10th of September by incessant firing from heavy siege guns. The railway from Frouard, which turns Toul, approaches completion.

THIONVILLE, METZ AND STRASBURG.

The corps investing Thionville are greatly molested by daily sorties from the fortifications and attacks by Franc Tireurs.

At Metz there has occurred a sortie, made by a French corps along the Strasburg turnpike. The engagement lasted only a few hours, and ended at dark, the Prussians occupying Chateau Mary le Haut.

At Strasburg the taking of the lunettes 52 and 53 secures the successful running of parallels for the storming of the inner fortifications and final capture of the city.

The Tribune's correspondent before Strasburg, Sept. 18th, writes: The fire of the Germans is maintained with perfect regularity and increasing force. The reply of the French is intermittent, sometimes furious, and seldom harmful. Their shells are defective, one-third of them bursting in the air. Their supply of fuses is deficient. Eighty thousand of them were recently captured on the Rhine. All efforts to drain the moats have failed. The heavy rains keep them full. Nevertheless the place could be taken any day by a determined assault, but Werder's instructions still oblige him to postpone it. The Germans complain because the inhabitants are allowed leave, thus prolonging the defence. Beef in the city is five francs per pound, horse flesh two francs and vegetables are unknown. Salt is exceedingly scarce. Much information as to the internal condition of Strasburg is brought by persons leaving, under the arrangement with the Swiss delegation. The latter refuse to receive poor but welcome rich emigrants.

The Francstireurs in Alsace have been scattered by the Uhlans. The whole province is now regularly occupied, and Schlettstadt and one or two other places are expected to be. The people of Alsace are impatient for peace on any terms. They have been cut off six weeks from all communication outside, no letters having been sent or received.

DIRECT FROM PARIS.

A Tribune bearer of dispatches reached London, Thursday midnight, having left Paris Tuesday afternoon. He reports all egress from the city positively prohibited by the French and that the Germans equally refused permission to all persons to pass their lines in either direction. The Prussians' advanced pickets are near La Malmaison, between St. Germain and Paris. No French troops were in sight. They all retired behind Paris. The country around Paris is deserted, except by Prussians. A pontoon bridge was thrown across the Seine below St. Germain, where the army of the Crown Prince is stationed. The Prussian lines extend on the road to Montes as far as Cressipiro. No trains are running on the railway between Paris and Rouen or any other point. All the telegraph wires are cut.

THE BATTLE OF MONDAY LAST.

The Tribune correspondent gives the following particulars of the battle on Monday:

The Chatillon, which was the scene of a serious fight, lies between the forts of Montrogue and Vanves, that of D'Ivry being beyond the latter again in a line with a farm called La Verriere. The space between the two first named forts is occupied by a redoubt, unfortunately not yet fully armed, but strong as a defence with steady troops behind it. To obtain possession of the redoubt was the object of the Prussians yesterday, but it was defended already. The previous day the Division of the Thirteenth Corps, Vinoy's, had set out on a reconnaissance to find the Prussian columns. A brisk affair took place, the advantage in which remained with the French, as they claim, with a loss of six killed and thirty-seven wounded. The official French report estimates the Prussian loss at four hundred, of whom fifty-eight were killed. The Prussian forces appeared from three to four thousand, and were marching upon Versailles, forming the rear guard of a much larger body which was turning the position of Chatillon and Clamart. This fact had been ascertained by Gen. Ducrot, who, with four divisions of infantry, occupied positions extending from the heights of Ville Juef to Meudon. Early on Monday morning General Ducrot advanced from his post to reconnoitre. He found himself opposed by heavy masses concentrated in the woods and villages and supported by formidable artillery. A sharp encounter took place. The French right [illegible] and retired. A part of the right effected this movement in good order, but another portion did so with what the official statement calls "regrettable precipitation." The wing that kept its formation reached the redoubt or earthwork constructed on an elevation of Chatillon. The left being feebly attacked was able to keep its position on the heights of Ville Juef. At this moment the Prussians hurriedly opened a terrific fire and the stream of the cannonade became so heavy that Ducrot was obliged to withdraw his troops within the protection of the forts. This he accomplished about 4 P. M., after a struggle which had lasted the best part of the day, with an intermission at ten in the morning. Having secured the retreat of the ammunition trains, he spiked the eight guns in the redoubt under the eyes and fire of the Prussians and withdrew beneath the fort of Vanves.

These statements I give you on the authority of the first official bulletin, which was soon followed by a postscript stating that the French artillery fired 25,000 thousand shots—official figures, more or less credible—and twice silenced that of the enemy. The Gardes Mobile are said to have fought most bravely and with the steadiness of old troops. On the other hand the Zouaves of the 20th marching regiment fled at four o'clock A. M., throwing away their arms and accoutrements. The majority of them were arrested later in the day by the National Guards and Mobiles.

IMPORTANT, IF TRUE, BUT DOUBTFUL.

LONDON, Sept. 23, 6 P. M.—A Berlin telegram, to be received cautiously, has the following: "Startling intelligence is the motion to seize the Black Sea and probably the Dardanelles. War between the Czar and Sultan imminent."

PRUSSIAN LOSS AT STRASBURG.

LONDON, September 23.—The Prussians in Lunette, No. 52, at Strasburg, which had been abandoned by the French, became objects of a terrible fire. Many German lives were lost, including the commander, Gultza.

ALL READY FOR SIEGE—THE PREPARATIONS FOR DEFENSE—GRAIN DESTROYED.

LONDON, September 23.—The Prussian guns at Sceaux now command the southern part of Paris. The Prussians avoided St. Denis, near the northern boundaries, as much time would have been lost in carrying it. The railroad is finished around the Paris fortifications. An arrangement is made at Lille whereby a complete inundation of the surrounding country can be effected in twelve hours. This means of defense will be resorted to on the approach of the Prussians. Large quantities of grain which had been collected around Paris were recently burned to prevent it falling into the hands of the Prussians. The Prussians have occupied Dourdan, eighteen miles southwest of Versailles. No Prussians are reported anywhere within the department of Aube.

Thiers, before leaving Tours for Venice, passed the night with Prince Metternich, Austrian Minister.

The road from Paris to Orleans is gorged with all sorts of vehicles, mainly loaded with the effects of Paris refugees.

The siege of Metz has become a mere blockade.

The safety of Tours threatens the Uhlans at Orleans and Blois.

AMERICAN SYMPATHY FOR FRANCE.

The Times to-day says the proclamation of the French Republic turned American sympathy to the French side, but neither the Republican nor Democratic party is sacrificing the German vote to this sentiment.

Jacob Bright, member of Parliament for Manchester, last evening made a speech to his constituents taking a roseate view of the war and its results upon the progress of humanity.

PALIKAO WITH NAPOLEON—OTHER IMPERIALISTS.

Palikao is with the Emperor at Wilhelmshohe. Count Benedetti is at Brussels, where Princess Mathilde is, at the Grand Hotel.

FURTHER FROM STRASBURG.

The Manchester Examiner says General Ulrich, commandant at Strasburg, is strongly inclined to surrender the city, but wounded soldiers and citizens are unanimously opposed to it. The Germans have armed the captured Lunettes numbers 52 and 53 with mortars, and other batteries have been erected on the heights. The German loss on Thursday was one officer and seven men killed and four officers and thirty men wounded.

[Special to the N. Y. World.]

FROM THE GERMAN CAMP—CROWN PRINCE'S APPEAL FOR THE WOUNDED.

OSTEND, September 22.—Dispatches from the German camp, before Paris, state the capture of two thousand Gardes Mobiles at Versailles and the occupation of Sevres by a Prussian garrison.

It is reported from Namur that the locks on the canal of the Marne have been repaired, and the Prussians compelled four thousand of their prisoners to work on the restoration.

The appeal of the Crown Prince of Prussia to Germany for aid to the wounded says: "In the battle fields of France Germany has awakened to the proud consciousness of her unity and of her might. This great gain will, I trust, exert its influence in cementing our country together. But our enthusiastic exaltation must be allayed with deep sorrow and mourning. The flower of the youth of Germany have fallen for the fatherland. Many heroic leaders of our armies have bought victory with their precious blood." The Crown Prince concluded with an earnest appeal to all Germany to come forward and contribute largely and abundantly to the work.

PRUSSIAN REPULSE AT TOUL CONFIRMED—THE SIEGE PARTIALLY ABANDONED.

LONDON, September 23.—A special to the N. Y. World from Tours telegraphs full confirmation of the report that the Prussians were repulsed before Toul on Monday night. The Prussian attack was general and made in two columns, one from the line of the Meuse and the other from the line of the Moselle. The fighting was very severe. The firing of the garrison was sustained and irresistible, particularly at the Moselle gate, and the loss of the Prussians so severe that with daybreak they were in full retreat on all sides. The active prosecution of the siege has been abandoned. A Prussian force has been left in position on the heights of Dommarten and Gondreville and another near Van Couleurs and Farry, but the larger part of the investing body has left for the army before Paris. The Uhlans have been reported to be at Beaugency on the Loire and at Manars Laville. At the former place, the streets being narrow and the houses high and of stone, a small force of them was cut off in the town by a hasty barricade and compelled to surrender.

In view of possible emergencies the general post office has been removed to Pau and the government is preparing to remove at the shortest notice to Toulouse, should Tours be seriously menaced.

[Cable Special to N. Y. Tribune.]

THE SIEGE OF MONTMEDY.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—Advices from Montmedy give a description of the attack thereon and state that the resistance of the garrison equalled anything in the history of the war. The siege can only be described as a blockade, strictly maintained by 15,000 men, occasionally protesting against the garrison holding out longer by firing a few rounds at the fortress from heavy guns. There is very little probability of the garrison surrendering, as prisoners report supplies constantly received from outside, despite the investment.

UNRELIABLE REPORTS FROM STRASBURG—GERMAN OCCUPATION OF FRENCH TOWNS.

LONDON, September 23.—Telegrams are posted in news rooms here reporting that the theatre of Strasburg was set fire by shell, and two hundred persons, who had taken refuge in the building, the majority of them women, burned to death; also, that a private residence in the city was broken into and plundered by a mob. The reports are not confirmed from other sources and are entitled to little or no credit.

The inhabitants of Sevres, on the approach of the Prussians, sent out a deputation to sue for protection. It is said they were actuated equally by fear of violence of the Reds and anxiety to get rid of Imperial functionaries.

At Beauvais the excitement of the citizens on the approach of the enemy became a panic.

Senor Orense is endeavoring to form a Spanish Legion for the French service.

OPPOSITION TO THE PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT—NO PEACE PARTY—PROVISIONS.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The Tribune correspondent at Paris, writing Tuesday, says: The attacks on the Government continue, and are if possible more bitter, now that we are all shut up together. Some of the Red organs, the Reveil, for instance, insist that there shall be no peace on any terms; that the war must go on at all hazards until victory is won. These same papers insist on a clean sweep in public officers, so that the whole of the administrative body employed under the Empire, rank and file as well as heads of departments, shall give place to new men. How is a government possible under such conditions? It is of the last importance that the Government should make peace, and here are a set of men who declare they shall not make peace on any terms, who reproach the Ministry bitterly for entertaining the question of peace, and yet these very men begin to cry out for an equal division of food among us, and we would embarrass the Government with disturbances. If anything goes wrong, these are the people to be feared. We are doing well enough about provisions and supplies. The Government fixed the price of meat, which is cheap. I dare say that in New York it is not yet more than twenty cents a pound. There is no scarcity of animal food, and the supply of bread is unlimited. For wine, the Prussians outside may envy us. The city seems unusually healthy. Even the small pox has disappeared, or at least we hear nothing of it. People forget to be ill in the midst of war.

We are waiting in no little excitement the return of Favre from the Prussian headquarters. But those well informed have slight hopes of his success.

THE FIGHT ON MONDAY—UNSATISFACTORY RESULT.

Another correspondent writes Tuesday: The fight of yesterday at Chatillon was anything but satisfactory. It appears that originally General Trochu, having reviewed his forces, determined to defend Paris without the help of an army outside. He had made up his mind to give up all strong places beyond the line of forts, when suddenly came Ducrot from Sedan, in the guise of a peasant. Here was a General fit to be trusted with a command outside of Paris. Ducrot should have an army of 50,000 men to defend certain heights. They came to a total yesterday and the most important incident of the day was the flight of Zouaves, the boasted Zouaves, without firing a shot. They ran into Paris amid execrations and hootings. They have been arrested in great numbers and it is proposed to shoot them, or at least make a good example in Champ de Mars. The young Mobilists did better. They stood their ground. But the result of all is that the army of Ducrot has retired behind the forts and Gen. Trochu falls back upon his original idea of defending the city by itself.

[cable to the N. Y. Tribune.]

AFFAIRS IN PARIS—LETTER FROM LOUIS BLANC.

LONDON, September 23.—Louis Blanc writes on the 19th from Paris: They have been fighting to-day all around Paris with alternations of success and disadvantage. The city is full of spirit and yet calm. The National Guard has shown itself resolute and Garde Mobile coming from all parts of the country display that careless gaity so characteristic of the French. We are sad, yet hopeful.

Another correspondent writes on the 20th: The Champ Elysees are lined with cavalry and infantry. The flying artillery is nearly all at the gates. Americans, with all other foreigners, will leave for Tours if the bombardment is begun.

PARIS CANNOT STAND A LONG SIEGE.

The Tribune courier reports a conversation with Prussian staff officers, who laugh at the idea of Paris standing a long siege. They declare they know the vulnerable points. They can force it to surrender, if permitted, in a short time. Versailles and St. Germaine were taken without a show of resistance. He made his way out of Paris repeatedly, but was turned back by Prussian patrols. Finally, he passed the pickets on the St. Germaine road and reached headquarters. He was notified by the Chief of the Crown Prince's Staff, Blumenthal, that he was the last person that would be allowed to pass.

NAPOLEON'S SECRET CORRESPONDENCE.

A stray number of Rappel, received from Paris, contains two private letters purporting to have been written by a female named Marguerite Belenger, said to be on intimate terms with Napoleon, confessing that an illegitimate child, whose paternity she had attempted to fix on the Emperor, was not his own. These letters are addressed to the Emperor, as follows:

Cher Seigneur: I have not written to you since your departure, fearing I might offend. But after the visit of Monseigneur De Vienne, I think I ought to write. In the first place I beg of you not to scorn me, for what will become of me then. Secondly, I beg your pardon. I have been guilty, it is true, but I assure you I was in doubt myself. Tell me, Cher Seigneur, if there is any way which I can redeem my fault. I will not shrink from anything. If an entire life of devotedness will gain your esteem, it is at your service. There is no sacrifice you could command that I am not ready to undertake. I would also beg that you send a few lines in reply to the address of Madame Belenger, Rue de Lanney, &c. Awaiting reply, accept, Cher Seigneur, my adieux.

Your entirely devoted and very unfortunate, MARGUERITE.

These letters were found among secret correspondence marked "Lettres a'dardu."

THREE DAYS LATER NEWS FROM PARIS.

LONDON, September 23.—Newspaper files have been received, including those of the Journal Official, Debats, Temps, Rappel, Liberte, Soir, Gaulois, Electeur Libre, and many others of the 20th and 21st of September, with three days later news. Picard's paper, the Electeur Libre, announces conspicuously the departure of Jules Favre on Sunday at six in the morning, adding "the Vice President of the Government for National Defense could not take such a step without the certainty of being received in a manner worthy of France, and with well founded hope of good result. There is every reason, therefore, to believe an armistice will be concluded and an early and honorable peace follow, as France will accept no other."

PARIS AT THE MERCY OF THE BESIEGERS.

The enemy occupy all the heights overlooking the Seine from Belleune to Montrodont. Nothing prevents them crossing the Seine, rebuilding bridges and bombarding the city from the heights of Montrodont, and even nearer, since the fire from the ramparts is obstructed by buildings and trees. Trochu was at Sevres this morning. The bridge there and the grand jatte were blown up by his order.

GOVERNMENT DECREES.

The Journal Official of the 20th, published a decree abrogating Article 75 of the Constitution and all other laws exempting public functionaries from prosecution. A decree authorizing the organization, without the usual formalities, of an insurance company against losses by siege, a decree of the Governor in regard to the state of siege in Algeria, and an appeal from Gambetta to the citizens announcing that the supreme moment has arrived and warning them against panic.

WHAT MIGHT BE.

The Times says England, Germany and America, if united in a determination to secure the peaceful progress of both continents, might shape the destinies of the human race.

[Cable Special to N. Y. Times.]

THE NEW AMERICAN MINISTER TO ENGLAND—MORTON'S SELECTION UNFAVORABLY RECEIVED.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The announcement that Senator Morton is to be sent to replace Mr. Motley is regarded unfavorably here, as the present conjuncture requires a man at the head of our legation of thorough experience in European affairs and of diplomatic training. The United States can exercise an important influence in favor of Republican France in the present crisis. A man like General Dix is required to meet the exigencies of the occasion.

BISMARCK AND FAVRE—HOPES FOR A SUCCESSFUL CONCLUSION OF THE CONFERENCE.

The continuance of negotiations between Favre and Bismarck inspires confidence in the successful conclusion of their effort. Were their views irreconcilable, it is justly argued there would have been a rupture between them before this. It is not probable there can be a cessation of hostilities until a vote is had as to the form of government.

The railway at Havre has received no more merchandise for transmission.

EXPLOSION OF A TORPEDO VESSEL.

A dispatch from Cuxhaven states that a steamer loaded with torpedoes blew up accidentally, killing the captain, four of the crew and four Landwehr officers on a visit to the vessel.

THE PARIS MOB PILLAGING.

It is stated from Tours to-night that intelligence has arrived from Paris that the mob has commenced pillaging hotels which were deserted by the owners, and silver, furniture, pictures and statues taken.

OFFICIAL LETTER FROM COUNT BISMARCK ON THE PEACE QUESTION.

The Tribune correspondent telegraphs from Berlin the following letter from Bismarck on the means and conditions of peace, dated Meaux, September 16:

Your Excellency is familiar with the circular which M. Jules Favre has addressed to the foreign representatives of France, in the name of the men for the present holding power in Paris, who call themselves "Le Gouvernment de la Defence Nationale." I have learned simultaneously that M. Thiers has entered upon a confidential mission to the foreign Courts, and I may presume that he will endeavor on the one side to create the belief in the love of peace of the present Parisian Government, and on the other side request the intervention of neutral powers in favor of a peace which will deprive Germany of her victories and make the next attack of France on Germany more difficult. We cannot believe in the sincerity of the desire of the present Parisian Government to make peace, so long as it continues by its language and its acts at home to excite the passions of the people and to increase the hatred and bitterness of a population stung by the sufferings of war to repudiate in advance every basis acceptable to Germany and unacceptable to France. By such a course it becomes impossible to make peace, for which the people should be prepared by calm words and in terms corresponding with the gravity of retraction. If we are to believe that negotiations for peace with us are honestly intended, the demand that we should conclude an armistice without any guarantees for our conditions of peace could be meant seriously only on the supposition that we lack military and political judgment, or are indifferent to the interests of Germany. When the French nation becomes convinced that they, having wantonly conjured up the war, alone, and Germany having had to fight it out, alone, they must also settle their accounts with Germany, alone, they will soon put and end to their resistance, now surely unavailing. It would be an act of cruelty to the French people by neutral powers to permit the Prussian Government to nourish among the people hopes of intervention that cannot be realized, and thereby strengthen the contest. We are far from any inclination to mix in the internal affairs of France. It is immaterial to us what kind of government the French people shall finally establish for themselves. The government of the Emperor Napoleon has hitherto been the only one recognized by us. Our conditions of peace, with whatever government we may have to negotiate, are wholly independent of the question how or by whom the French nation is governed. They are prescribed to us by the nature of things and by the law of self defence against a violent and hostile neighbor. The unanimous voice of the German Government and people demand that Germany shall be protected by better boundaries than we have had hitherto against the dangers and violence we have experienced from all French governments for centuries. As long as France remains in possession of Strasburg and Metz, so long is its offensive strategically stronger than our defensive, so far as all South Germany and North Germany on the left bank of the Rhine are concerned. Strasburg in the possession of France is a gate always wide open for attack on South Germany. In the hands of Germany Strasburg and Metz obtain a defensive character. In more than twenty wars we have never been aggressors on France, and we demand of the latter nothing else than our safety and our land so often threatened by it. France on the other hand will regard any peace that may be made now as an armistice only, and in order to avenge the present defeat will attack us in the same quarrel in some other manner as this year, as soon as it feels strong enough for its own resources, or from foreign alliances. In rendering it difficult for France, from whose initiative alone hitherto the disturbances of Europe have resulted, to resume the offensive, we at the same time act in the interest of Europe, which is that of peace. From Germany no disturbance of European peace is to be feared. After having had this war forced upon us, which for four years, by our care and by restraining the feelings of our national self-respect, so incessantly outraged by France, we had prevented, we mean now for our future safety to demand the price of our mighty efforts. We shall demand only that which we must have for our defence. Nobody will be able to accuse us of a want of moderation if we insist on this just demand. Your Excellency will make these views your own and advocate them in discussions.

[Signed.] BISMARCK.

The above is a circular to the North German representatives abroad.

A BLAST AT JOHN BULL.

LONDON, September 23.—Charles Hugurn, of the Rappel, writes: When John Bull hears Denmark's death rattle, and cries of rage from France whom sinister scoundrels have handed over defenceless to savages, but who will liberate herself, he swallows his beef steak and drinks his porter, saying, with a profound sigh, "I regret that my friends are being swallowed up."

FROM FRANCE.

THE SITUATION AROUND AND INSIDE PARIS—INAUGURATION OF THE SIEGE.

PARIS, September 22.—It is said that Gen. Trochu intends to call into Paris all the troops which are now outside, and not engaged in scouting.

The heavy guns of Fort D'Ivry did great harm to the Prussians massed in the woods. The French losses are not yet published, but are reported as much less than those of the Prussians. Thus has commenced a series of struggles which must now be terminated either by victory and the withdrawal of the Prussians, or by a defeat that will convert every house into a fortress.

The elan of the Garde Mobile is unquestionable, and the resolution of the National Guard is not less firm, because less boisterous. Provinces and communes are fast coming to the rescue of the beleagured capital. Three communes have already subscribed five hundred thousand dollars, and thirteen others have subscribed two millions two hundred thousand dollars toward the national defence.

The aspect of the street changes wonderfully from day to day. Fewer people are to be seen, and more shops are closed. More soldiers are in the streets, but very few women. The people grow solemn. At ten o'clock P. M. the cafes are regularly closed, and by eleven the boulevards are deserted. Ambulances with wounded soldiers are continually passing, and we hear grave rumors of houses and whole streets being mined. Carriages passing the line of fortifications are forbidden to go off a walk for fear of occasioning explosions.

The dread of spies has not yet died out. Each man looks at his neighbor with suspicion.

Yesterday morning the most curious sign of siege was the number of foreign flags flying about Paris. At the English Embassy the Union Jack was flying over the gateway, and in order that there might be no mistake, a great blackboard was put up to inform the public that "This is the English Embassy." Also a similar board on the garden side, facing the Champs Elysees. All the foreign Embassies have their flags flying, and every foreign resident of Paris hangs out the flag of his nation. The number of flags with stars and stripes that meet one on every street, gives a vivid idea of the regard in which the French capital is held by Americans. The English flags are much fewer. It is supposed that all houses covered with such flags will be respected by both belligerents.

The Red Cross flags of the "Society for the Wounded" are also very frequent. If any one sets up a private ambulance in his house, that is, allots one or two beds to wounded, he may hang out the Red Cross flag. Among all the flags the American is the favorite, and Mr. Washburne is perhaps the most popular man in Paris.

SOUTHWARD ADVANCE OF THE GERMANS.

TOURS, September 23.—The Germans have passed Orleans on their way to Blois. It is apprehended that their intention is to follow the line of the Loire and occupy this city. If so the Provisional Government here, which is isolated from communication with Paris, will remove further southward. Limoges may be selected as the next abiding place for the Government. Preparations have been made for removing the valuable stores from this city for safety, and some have been taken away already.

IRREGULAR COMMUNICATION WITH PARIS—GENERAL CLUSERET.

TOURS, September 23.—Newspaper files and letters arrive here spasmodically from Paris.

General Cluseret has been recalled from the south as he is thought to encourage dissatisfaction and disorder among the people. There are immense supplies of cartridges at Lyons. Dispatches from that city announce the arrival there of great numbers of French prisoners, who escaped while en route to Germany, under a guard of French soldiers. Many more managed to reach Toul.

The captive balloons at Paris are still in active use, enabling the military authorities to keep a sharp watch on the movements of the Prussians.

LATEST FROM METZ.

Another balloon from Marshal Bazaine's headquarters at Metz has fallen within the territory controlled by the French. The balloon contained one hundred and thirty-seven letters. From these it appears that butchers' meat is very dear at Metz, and the army and citizens are consequently eating horse flesh. Provisions other than meat are plenty.

ANOTHER DISCLOSURE AS TO THE CAMPAIGN.

TOURS, September 23.—A writer in the La France gives the following as the Prussian plan of campaign, and claims to have the facts from unerring authority:

The advance on Paris was regulated with mathematical exactness, so as to bring the several German army corps around the capital by the 14th of September. Then Paris was to be turned on the south, cutting communication on that side with Tours, the seat of the Provisional Government. From Versailles, the Prussian headquarters, they are to harrass Paris until it surrenders. Metz, Strasburg and Toul still hold out, and present at least a fortnight's task. Meanwhile the Germans will detach two corps to Lyons, Havre and Cherbourg, and send flying columns throughout the country in all directions for forage. Seventy-five thousand fresh cavalry for that service are now expected from Germany. A portion of the programme has already been realized.

The writer affirms further, that the Prussian General Steinmetz was disgraced because of heavy losses inflicted on his army by Marshal Bazaine.

EXTENT OF SWINDLING.

One of the journals states Magne, formerly Minister of Finance, writing privately to a friend, assured him he had a short time before the change in the government paid, upon receipts presented, for over one million Chassepots and three hundred thousand other guns. As these guns have never been seen, it shows to what extent swindling was carried on under the old regime.

DEFENSE OF ORLEANS AND TOURS—NO NEWS FROM PARIS—ACTIVITY OF PRUSSIAN CAVALRY—OFFICIAL BULLETIN.

TOURS, September 23.—Effective military measures have been taken for the protection of Orleans and Tours.

No news is received here from Paris. The people and journals seem to accept its absence as a matter of course.

It is reported the Prussians are withdrawing their forces from other points to concentrate them around Paris. Their cavalry is in incessant motion. Numberless squads of Uhlans patrol the country for miles around the capital in every direction, their main object being to cut off all communications. But Paris will surely hold out and proceed to hold elections for the Constituent Assembly, even under the sabres of the Prussians. A corps of Spanish guerillas is forming at Toulouse to assist in the defence of the country.

Minister Gambetta has sent a Prefect to take charge of the department of Haut Rhine. Valentin, the Prefect recently appointed to the department of Bas Rhine, has succeeded in entering Strasburg.

The following dispatches are bulletined here:

Soppes, Sept. 22.—A large Prussian force has entered Fontainbleau and made a requisition for 150,000 francs. The Prussians are marching on Nemours, and a detachment is going towards Orleans.

Rambouillet, Sept. 22.—The enemy has disappeared from Dourdan and Arpajon, and is moving to Le Mans.

FROM PRUSSIA.

SIEGE GUNS BEFORE PARIS.

BERLIN, September 21.—Advices from Milan state that the Prussian guns planted on the hights at Sceas are well posted for directing a heavy fire against the southern part of Paris, commanding the road and having such a sweep as will make a protracted defense by Vinoy unlikely. The range has been proved by the gunners and all obstructions to sight have been cleared away.

The Prussians will not undertake to besiege Fort St. Denis. The obstacles are too great. The Seine surrounds Fort Denis, and the passes have been filled up.

Other Cable Dispatches.

ITALY.

THE POPE ASKS FOR A PERSONAL GUARD.

FLORENCE, September 23. Yesterday a conflict occurred in Leonine City between the Italian soldiers and a mob. The Pope subsequently asked General Cadorna for a guard in order to ensure his personal safety. General Cimmedy sent the troops for that purpose.

General Garibaldi is still a prisoner on the Island of Caprera. Italian war vessels are cruising about to prevent his escape to France.

A Tribune special, dated Florence, September 21 says: The portion of Rome called Leonine, the portion of the city on the right bank of the Tiber, containing the Vatican and castle of St. Angelo, has not been occupied by Italian troops. It is doubtful if the Pope is in Rome.

FLORENCE, September 23.—Rome is completely occupied by the Italian troops, the Pope being permitted to retain a guard composed of his late troops of Italian birth. All the rest of his army have been dismissed. Popular demonstrations of approval continue throughout the kingdom. It is thought the plebiscite will take place on Sunday.

SPAIN.

SPREAD OF THE VOMITO.

MADRID, September 23. — The vomito is spreading rapidly in the sea coast towns.

MADRID, Sept. 23.—The most intense excitement exists in Barcelona and other cities on the Mediterranean coast, regarding the vomito. The disease is of a virulent type and spreading rapidly. More than one thousand cases are reported in Barcelona alone. Four hundred have resulted fatally. Seventy thousand people have fled the city and business is prostrated. The disease was brought from Cuba in the steamer Marie Pela.

CUBA.

THE VOMITO AND CHOLERA.

HAVANA, September 23.—Vomito is not raging with unusual violence for this season of the year. It prevails to a considerable extent among the seamen in the harbor, but slightly elsewhere. The Board of Health and physicians report the cholera decreasing. The mortality among Americans during the summer was small, but there were many deaths among British seamen on coal vessels.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, September 23.—During the session of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, Major Saunders presented a paper on the physical geography of America, emigration and the increase of the cotton production. The paper was highly appreciated, especially the recommendation to establish branches of the Supply Association in the southern States. The newspapers also strongly approve of the scheme.

MARINE NEWS.

QUEENSTOWN, September 23.—The steamship Russia, from New York, arrived this morning.

LONDON, September 23.—Notwithstanding the blockade of the Baltic, forty-four ships have entered Sellinnemunde since the 20th of September.

FRANKFORT, September 23.—American securities closed firm at 94½@94⅝.

American Relief to Expelled Germans.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, September 23.—There is the best authority for saying there is no truth in the statement that Secretary Fish explicitly instructed Mr. Washburne that he can do nothing whatever to mitigate the sufferings of expelled Germans. Mr. Washburne, under the instruction and permission of the State Government, has afforded relief and mitigated the sufferings of many thousands of Germans expelled from Paris.

Bank Robbery at Northumberland, Pa.

NORTHUMBERLAND, PA., September 23.—Last night two men secreted in the First National Bank overpowered the watchman and blew open the vault, but failed to force the doors of the safe. They carried off the contents of private boxes belonging to depositors containing bonds, but the bank sustains no loss.

—It is expected that five hundred Chinamen will be at work in a few days grading the Midland Railroad between Pompleton and Newtown, N. J.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

—George W. Clark, a well-known Ohio river steamboat pilot, fell down in a fit of apoplexy in St. Louis, on Thursday, and died almost instantly.

—G. S. McCormick, of Pittsburgh, was seriously, if not fatally injured near the Hudson River Depot, New York, yesterday, by being struck by a passenger car. He was taken to the Grand Hotel.

—An old blind man named McConnell, and wife, were burned to death in their lodges in South street, Boston, Thursday night. Both were hard drinkers and the fire is supposed to have been kindled by the light of a pipe.

—John Speer, ex-Internal Revenue Collector, was arrested in Lawrence, Kansas, charged with embezzling one hundred and fifty thousand dollars in Government bonds. He waived an examination and was released on thirty thousand dollars bail. W. W. Barnclow, Deputy Collector under Speer, was also arrested.

—The Soldiers' Reunion of Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, assembled on the old camp ground at Moundsville, Kentucky, on Thursday. Col. Curtis, of West Virginia, was elected Post Commander. Beautiful addresses of welcome were delivered by Gov. Stevenson and Captain Bowers. The attendance is large and increasing every hour.

—The British bark Ondara, from Tobasco to Queenstown, was abandoned on the 19th of September. On the 17th the sea that threw her on her beam ends washed overboard and drowned the Captain, first officer, steward and cabin boy. Half an hour after the vessel righted, when the men who were left lashed themselves to the mizzen rigging, where, without food or water, they remained forty-eight hours, until rescued providentially by a passing vessel.

—Foreign members of the Evangelical Alliance, who came to this country expecting to attend the Grand Alliance Meeting at New York this month, but which was given up on account of the European war, were given an informal reception at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association at New York yesterday afternoon. Nearly thirty clergymen from abroad were tendered a set of resolutions conveying a hearty welcome from the American churches. Wm. E. Dodge was President on the occasion, and a number of foreign clergymen responded eloquently to the greeting accorded them.

—The N. Y. Tribune of yesterday says, editorially: "Senator Oliver P. Morton, of Indiana, was about a week ago appointed Minister to England. He promptly accepted the appointment, but requested that the whole matter should be kept a secret until Governor Baker should have time for considerate and untrammelled action in the appointment of his successor. Senator Morton left this city three days ago to confer with Governor Baker on the subject, and sufficient time having elapsed for this purpose, we are at liberty to announce the appointment, and congratulate the country upon its character. Although now broken in constitution by the severity of his labors in these critical times, he is intellectually as vigorous as ever."

I. O. O. F. Grand Lodge Meeting.

BALTIMORE, September 23.—In the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows to-day the report of the Financial Committee was read, showing the receipts of the year to be $53,141; expenditures, $32,309.

A Committee was appointed on Funeral Ceremony, Barry of Indiana, Durham of Kentucky, Thompson of Missouri, Driggs of Connecticut, and Mays of Mississippi.

A report was made from the Judiciary Committee on the appeal of Mr. Rucker from the action of the Grand Lodge of Illinois approving certain decisions of the Grand Master thereof. The report disapproves the decision confining the prosecution in subordinate lodges, after defence closed, to rebutting evidence. The report also decides that all members, including those admitted while suffering from chronic diseases, as consumption, &c., are entitled to claim benefits.

Adjourned till to-morrow. The next meeting will be held at Chicago.

THE French prisoners in Germany received the news of Napoleon's dethronement with great satisfaction.

THE third Zouaves were three thousand strong on the 4th of August. At Reichshoffen they lost nineteen hundred. After Sedan there was but one hundeed.

THE Parisians continue to amuse themselves with renaming their streets. The name of De Morny, borne by a street leading out of the Faubourg St. Honore to the Champs Elyses, is now replaced by that of MacMahon.

MR. RICHARD WALLACE, the inheritor of the great wealth of the late Marquis of Hertford, has given $12,000 to found an ambulance for the French army which is to be called "The Ambulance of the late Marquis of Hertford."

AMONG the historical facts connected with Verdun, it is narrated that during the wars of the French revolution fifteen girls of that town, all under fifteen years of age, were sent to the guillotine for having danced at a ball given by Prussian officers.

THE d'Agriculture says that the departments traversed by the belligerents, and comprising an area over four millions hectares, have totally lost their harvests and supplies. The estimated money loss is not far from a thousand millions of dollars already in those departments.

PERE DAVIS, the distinguished naturalist, who has been traveling for two years or more in the west and northwest of China, had returned to Tien Tsin just before the 21st, and, unfortunately, lost a very valuable collection of specimens in the Mission buildings.

THE French official journal gives a list of towns offering beds for the wounded, and a number of items, such as: Count de Jouffrey offers his country residence and five beds which it contains; M. Cottin of Jujurieux gives fifteen beds; Baron de Bonnefoy will receive four wounded soldiers.

ONE of the effects of the war has been to bring forward Weissheimer's opera of Theodore Koerner, which heretofore couldn't be produced on account of its liberal sentiments. In it Koerner's own songs are introduced, with a powerful chorus. It was enthusiastically received at Leipsic.

THE Crown Prince of Prussia is the idol of all the German troops—of the South Germans especially. One day he was talking to a number of Bavarian soldiers, when one of them bluntly said: "You see, your Royal Highness, if you had but led us in 1866, then we would surely have beaten these d—d Prussians."

JOSEPH MAYER, whose splendid, long-flowing locks of dark hair, and classic face, well fitted him for his part of Christ in the passion drama of Oberammergau, after being pressed into service at Munich, excited so much interest among certain wealthy English people at that place that they tried to buy him off, but they did not succeed.

AT the Hotel de Ville, M. Gambetta saved a fine picture of the Emperor from destruction by a happy mot: "My friends," said he, adroitly twisting the obnoxious portrait round, its face to the wall, "My friends we have borne with this original for twenty years; we will be satisfied now with turning him to the wall. That's all he is fit for."

THE Silesian Knights of Malta lately assembled at the Hotel Garlish in Breslau, the Duke of Ratisbon presiding, to organize for service in the field, the elder members being allotted to depot and reserve hospital duty, while the younger ones were ordered to the field of action; 5,000 thalers were contributed on the spot to the Prussian Sanitary Fund.

BY direction of Cardinal Cullen, "a solemn Tridium, in celebration of the definition of the infallibility of the Pope, as declared by the Vatican Council," was lately held in the Roman Catholic Cathedral, Marlborough street, Dublin. It lasted three days. Part of the arrangement was that on each day a separate bishop should deliver a discourse on the nature of the dogma, and its binding obligations on all Catholics.

"SUPPOSE," cries the Pall Mall Gazette, "the French Republic, eager to wipe out the disgrace of the present war, should some day help the American Republic to avenge the Alabama wrongs: and then suppose the Fenians should take a hand in the fight (as they surely would want to); and suppose another republic should rise up in Spain, and insist in having Gibraltar; and suppose, on the top of all this, Russia should crowd us to the wall of Asia; what a pretty pickle England would be in!"

AMONG the few who escaped from Sedan was M. Peregallo, Chief de Battalion. He refused to capitulate, and when night came he got some poor clothing, cut off his beard and moustache, and got out of the town with some teamsters. After two days of fatigue and anxiety, during which he was in the the frequent company of Prussian soldiers, he was arrested at Meux for a Prussian spy, and sent on to the front for examination. There he made known his rank, and was received with warm congratulations.

THE Japanese authorities have arrested no fewer than fourteen Japanese children at Nagasaki, who had been sold by their parents to Chinese slave dealers at that port. There appears some cause for believing that the Chinese at that outport are industriously corrupting the Japanese mind with those tales of scientific atrocities which brought about the massacre at Tien Tsin.

A MEETING was held at the club in Hankow, for the purpose of forming a Defense Corps. Thirty-five names were enrolled as volunteers. A Defense Committee is appointed, consisting of G. W. Casin, H. B. M.'s Consul; R. M. Johnson, U. S. Consul; H. E. Hobson, Commissioner of Customs; Herbert Cope, Esq., and Geo. G. Gordon, Esq. The Committee ordered fifty Snider rifles from Shanghai.

A LITTLE girl of four, the daughter of one of our brave Colonels of the army of the Rhine, was saying her prayers at her mother's knee. "God preserve my dear papa, and let him kill a good many Prussians." Mamma reminded the child that perhaps some little German girl was praying that God might help her father to kill a good many French. "Oh, that doesn't amount to anything," she replied. "Why not?" "Because God doesn't understand German."—Figaro.

SINCE the Tien Tsin tragedy proclamations have appeared at Nankin, Suchow, Shanghai, Ningpo and many other places, assuring the people that the officers are satisfied, after careful investigation, that the Christians have in no wise been guilty of the crimes which rumor has alleged against them; and that the kidknappers are none other than wicked Chinese, who have carried on from time to time their nefarious practice from very remote ages down to the present time.

THE process of welding together the breech portion of the 35-ton gun recently took place at the Woolwich (England) Arsenal. This gun, which promises to be the most powerful in existence, is designed upon the Frazer system, and is built up of five concentric rings—first, the tube of toughened steel, then a chase of coiled iron, next a second coil of iron, over that the coiled iron breech piece, and over all the trunion hoop, a massive casting weighing about ten tons, which was welded at a red heat. This form of construction is calculated to afford the maximum of endurance with the minimum of weight. The amount of endurance required may be imagined from the fact that the charge of gunpowder to be used is 110 pounds, and the projectile weighs 800 pounds. The caltbre of the bore is 11-6 inches, and the length of the tile will be two feet of solid shot, and about three feet two inches of common shell.

Valuable Oakland Property for Sale.

For sale, a first-class two-story brick dwelling house, slate roof; fronting on Charlotte street, Oakland, and running back to Bouquet street; within five minutes' walk of the Oakland car station.

This house is new, contains fourteen rooms, besides wash-house, bath house, water closets, pantries, wide halls, lofty ceilings, and closets in every room; cellar eight feet in the clear under the whole house. Is supplied with water from the city water works, also with spring water forced into the house by a hydraulic ram.

The kitchen is fitted up with one of Bissell & Co.'s Ranges and Boiler, and the house is supplied with hot air registers and one of Graff, Hugus & Co.'s Furnaces. Marble mantels in all the rooms. Ash pits in the cellar to receive the ashes from all the fire places.

Gas fixtures all through the house from cellar to attic. Hot and cold water in kitchen, wash house and first and second floors of the building. Large porches in front and rear of the house.

The interior, finished, painted and grained in an elegant manner, must be seen to be appreciated.

The gronds, nearly two acres, are tastefully laid out in walks. There are two never-failing springs of soft water that supply the house, spring house and two fish ponds with water; water soft and of excellent quality. Fish ponds contain brook trout and gold fish.

Nice spring house, out house, henery, and new fences, gates and sidewalks all round the lot. The grounds are well stocked with all kinds of fruit trees, set out about twelve years ago, in full bearing. There are a large variety of evergreen trees and flowering shrubs and flowers on the place, of the choicest varieties.

To a person of means desirous of purchasing an elegant home ready to move into, complete in al details, this is a rare chance, as it can be purchased for less money than the cost of buying and building such a place. It is one of the most attractive pieces of property in the vicinity of Pittsburgh. For further particulars enquire of

WHEN David Kirk asserted in his speech that one of the proprietors of the GAZETTE voted the Democratic ticket until he became one of its owners, and that he is a member of a certain Society of St. Joseph, he asserted what he knew to be a wilful and malicious falsehood. The gentleman he refers to never voted anything but the straight Republican ticket in his life, and he belongs to no society but good society, into which Mr. Kirk has never been initiated.

WE WOULD LIKE to know how Mr. Walton got into the regular Republican Convention. He was there, working with assiduity to get nominated. He allowed his friends to work for him without the slightest remonstrance. Would he have endorsed the action of that Convention if he had been nominated? Would he have been stumping it now over the city in the name of reform, and against the balance of the regular ticket? It is strange how many bad rings Mr. Walton has discovered since his defeat. And what is still more strange, he tells us in all his speeches, that he knew all about these iniquities before he went into the regular Convention to be nominated. Why did he ever go among such bad men? Don't it look a little as though, notwithstanding his letter stating that he was the sentinel on the tower to warn the party against division, and that he did not care to be sent back to the Legislature, that he is about as anxious to be returned as a man well can be. There must be some reason for it.

THE Commercial, in its eager anxiety to elect James H. Hopkins, the Democratic nominee for Congress, assails General Negley with a vituperation that is disgraceful, and with misrepresentation of the most flagrant character. In collusion with the Post it assumes to be possessed of certain information relative to the General, with reference to his speeches and to what he calls his "Oriental Bill." He charges the General with plagiarism for quoting from statistics, and accuses him of stealing for quoting from the records. It manipulates a bill to suit its own interests, and places it on the shoulders of Negley. This has been the style of warfare throughout. This is reform in the eyes of the Commercial. It is all of no use. The people have the records as well as the Commercial, and will read them to the discomfiture of that exemplary sheet. Why not give us some of Hopkins along with so much of Negley. It would look a little more as if there was some hope for the Third Party movement. As it is, however, it is evident there is no hope of Frew being elected, and Hopkins is its next choice.

LOOK TO THE ASSESSMENTS!

But a few days are now left to see to it that every Republican voter's name is on the registry. The way to find out is to go and look at the list hanging up at each election place. If your name is there, all right; if not, go to the Assessor and have it put on.

REMEMBER! No man can vote whose name is not on the Registry for the district in which he offers to vote.

Let every voter impress that fact on his memory, and this additional one, that his name must be registered at least ten days before the election.

It is the duty of Vigilance Committees to give early and prompt attention to this; but every man can do it best for himself. The lists for each district are now to be seen at the several places of election. Go and examine for yourselves.

And if, in examining, you find that the name of any friend has been omitted, hunt him up and have the omission rectified.

In some of the districts the Assessors have done their work faithfully, and the lists are very nearly correct; but in others it has been sadly neglected. The only sure way is for every man to go and see for himself.

We urge upon the local vigilance committees to give special attention to this matter. It will be very annoying to them, on the day of election, to find their friends turned away from the polls for not being [illegible]. See to it that no such mishap occurs.

ORGANIZE!

The first political duty—first in importance—is organization. Without it, no work is or can be complete. With it, work is comparatively easy, and always effective.

Already some of our wards, boroughs and townships have moved and announced their committees; others are preparing to follow; but in some we see no signs of life.

There is no time to be lost. Every moment, now, is valuable. Friends! Rouse up to the necessity of the occasion, and see to it that your election district is at once effectively organized.

What is everybody's business is nobody's. Do not, Republican reader of this paragraph, shove this duty off from your shoulders on to those of somebody else. It is your business. We are addressing these words to you, personally. Take quick hold of the work, and do it, not because we ask it, nor because any one else urges it, no matter who, but for the sake of the cause.

Let the Republicans of each election district get together, at once, divide the work to be done among themselves, parcel it out judiciously, and then see to it that it is done.

In the cities and boroughs we want block committees, in the townships school district committees, to get the name of every Republican voter within their bounds, and see that they are at the polls on election day. We also want, in each district, a committee to see that every Republican voter is registered, and another to see that those who are entitled to it are naturalized. These, with a committee to watch the polls on election day, will do all that is to be done.

The triumphant success of our ticket can be assured by the practical application of one word — WORK! WORK! WORK!

OUR PURPOSE.

The Third Party clings to its dreary, hopeless work, with an ardor worthy of a better cause. Had there been anything in the movement, we would have known it before this. There being really no principle they dare disclose we are still left in the dark. Their speeches are a rehash of the same material. Their arguments, denunciations of a "ring." They deem it their duty day after day to pound away at the GAZETTE, and think it rhetoric to call it hard names.

We have read the slander of our Republican principles for years from the whole Democratic press, and are not to be turned aside from our support of those principles by the clamor of these men. We know too well the future of this Government under the administration of Republicans, and its future in the hands of the Democracy, to hesitate one moment over the course we shall pursue. We know that our living Republic of the present will resurrect the dead Republics of the past. That out of our baptism of blood will come a new awakening all over the world. That the steady march of popular government started with our principles, and that, unless checked by Democratic illiberalism, it will spread broad-cast everywhere. We see it where we least looked for it, in stubborn constitutional England, where the fired hearts of the people rolled forth their veneration for our land. Where our flag was displayed as an emblem of liberty and where the sentiments expressed were flattering to our national pride. We see it in Spain, we hear of it in Italy, its mutterings come rolling to us from Germany, and we know that the eyes of a world are turned upon our nation with love and respect for its Republican work.

We do not propose to change this feeling for a local fight over some mythical ring in the county of Allegheny. To barter away its share of pride, with its mighty record of eleven thousand of a majority for principles that have placed us at the front of civilization, for the silly return of defeating some mythical Court House Ring. To give our grand old county into the hands of illiberal Democracy, in order to rebuke the index commissioners. To have us pointed at, and taunted with defection in principle, for having abandoned the greatest Reform movement the world has ever witnessed, for the sake of punishing some one who has gotten the job of indexing the Allegheny Court House Records. This is too much like running with violent eagerness to a burning house to save the inmates, and carrying out a pin.

The Third party ticket, as a ticket, cannot be elected. It is simply a sheer impossibility. We speak plainly when we say it wants a soul. It needs an awakening principle, that will strike with electric force the throbbing pulse of the people. It needs vitality, that will warm into energy all who approach it. There is nothing of the kind about it. Its elements are heterogeneous and its actions are indecisive of reform. It will draw a few men around it, but it will have no triumph as a ticket. We feel that these men are like children playing with edge tools. That in their clamor over relief from the taxation arising from some Court House ring, local to this county, they may place the country under the burthens of Democratic taxation. That in their endeavors to get rid of some one man as a leader, they may place a man in Congress, not only hostile to the welfare and interest of twenty-five thousand Allegheny county citizens, but to the whole country. We feel that these men know better in their hearts than to make a division in our ranks, and are aware of the utter uselessness of their effort. We believe they know, as we know, that there is no question of principles advocated by them that is not advocated by the Republican ticket. Our aim is to preserve the party. To prevent the Democracy from getting our county into their hands, and we do oppose and shall oppose every movement that weakens our strength.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

Wooster university, under the patronage of the Presbyterians, formally opened not long since at Wooster, Ohio, begins its existence with one of the finest college buildings in this country——a building which cost one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and is situated on a fine elevated campus of twenty acres. In addition, a fund of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars has been secured. The medical department has already been organized at Cleveland, and the law school will soon be opened. Rev. George P. Hays, the newly elected President of Washington and Jefferson college, had much to do in securing the endowment fund of this institution. We hope he may be successful in the new position he has just assumed.

The oratory of St. Sacrament Mission, just opened in New York city, by Father Bradley, is to have services of the most ritualistic sort. At the opening services Thursday week, the Holy Eucharist was celebrated five times in the morning. The daily paper announces that Dr. Morgan Dix, rector of Trinity; Dr. Batterson, rector of St. Clement's Philadelphia, Father Noyes, of St. Albans; Father Bradley, Dr. Houghton, and Bishop Southgate, have taken part in the services of the mission; and Bishop Potter fully approves. Father Bradley in a circular letter announces his intention at these "daily sacrifices," to restore "the Sarum" use of worship; but oppose extreme Roman Catholic ritualism. He teaches that the Lord's body is present in the sacrament, which should be received fasting. Mr Bradley is described as being thoroughly conscientious and in earnest in these services.

With a view to establish Seminaries in each Southern State, primarily for the benefit of the freedmen, but offered to all the Baptist Home Mission Society have undertaken to raise half a million dollars for that purpose. Upward of one hundred thousand dollars is already raised, and properly invested. The German Baptists, organized into separate congregations in 1851, have had a rapid growth in this country. In that year there were eight churches, eight ordained ministers, and upward of four hundred members. In 1869, they reported seventy-nine churches, eighty-nine ordained ministers, and a membership of nearly five thousand.

The Congregationalist, referring to the vote of the people of a town in the Connecticut Valley, prohibiting the sale of ale, beer and cider, thinks the use of their large rich fields in raising immense crops of tobacco, as being calculated to do more mischief than all the cider, beer and ale their people can possibly imbibe.

The Independent says the Congregational churches of Brooklyn, with the Presbyterian churches lately New School, are making large preparations to entertain hospitably the five thousand strangers who are expected to attend the meetings of the American Board of Commissioners, commencing October 4th.

The Congregationalists of Rhode Island celebrate their Pilgrim Jubilee in Providence on the 11th day of October. Male delegates alone are invited—the sisters being allowed only as spectators. The Independent makes the following thrust: "At the end of two hundred and fifty years since the landing at Plymouth, the Congregationalists of Rhode Island have not learned that in Christ 'there is neither male nor female!'"

Dr. Wm. Paxton's Presbyterian church, New York City, raised this year for religious purposes, over one hundred and sixty thousand dollars, nearly twenty thousand more than last year, an average of five hundred and thirty-four dollars for each of its three hundred members.

Recent statistics show that the gain in members of the Reformed (Dutch) Church over last year is twenty-six hundred and forty-eight. The aggregate membership is now over sixty thousand. There is also a slight gain of ministers and churches.

Ministers who so enthusiastically lift such men's humanitarianism as Dickens' to the level of Christianity, are sharply rebuked by Appleton's Journal. It says they are simply telling the world that the whole Christian theory as it has been expounded for eighteen centuries is a mistake—making good nature and kindly sympathies convertible terms for faith and prayer. Assuredly these men, it argues, can sufficiently admire the genius of a great writer, without emptying Christianity of nearly all its significance, in order to do so.

Rev. Dr. Wiley, the editor of the Ladies Repository, in a late address asserted, that one branch of Methodism (Episcopal) in this country, is one third greater in population than the Catholic Church, and that the combined Methodism of the nation is twice as large, numerically, as Romanism.

Rev. Dr. Patton, editor-in-chief of the Advance, in answering the question who in the cities sustain the Sunday schools and prayer meetings of the Church—says not the lawyers, the physicians, the editors, the teachers and others, but the ordinary mechanics and business men, with common school education, shrewd sense, and devoted piety. A live Sunday School man suggests that the women of the Church, who have little time for fashion and style, are the ones that the pastors can rely on for the most faithful of Christian labor.

Several distinguished men from foreign lands, having come over the ocean to attend the General Conference of the Evangelical Alliance, in New York, not knowing that the meeting had been postponed, the Branch Alliance at New York, will hold a special meeting to-morrow evening to hear addresses from some of them. Rev. Dr. Revel, a Waldensian from Italy; Rev. Dr. Koering, from Hungary; Rev. Dr. Bliss, from Turkey; Rev. James Davis, Rev. Dr. Angus, and others, from England, will speak.

At a meeting of the Protestant Episcopal Sunday School Association, held at St. Anne's Church, New York, an essay was read by Rev. Wm. Tatlock, of Stamford, Ct., in which he endeavored to show that primarily all authority to teach children rested with the parents; that this authority might be, and in church Sunday schools is, generally delegated to the pastor, or rector, and through him to the Sunday school teachers. He did not believe that every man and woman who wished to be teachers were authorized by God.

The one hundredth anniversary of the death of George Whitefield, is to be observed Friday, Sept. 30th, with appropriate services, in the Federal street Presbyterian Church, Newburyport, Mass., where he had preached the night before his death. Rev. Dr. J. F. Stearns, of Newark, Drs. John Hall and I. S. Pruns, of New York, Dr. R. W. Clark, of Albany, Dr. Vermilye, of Utica, and others are to participate.

P. V. & C. RAILROAD.

EDITORS GAZETTE: In these days of war and politics, how refreshing to see that our city interests are not being entirely overlooked. Pittsburgh at last proposes to build a railroad that should have been built long enough since to have paid back to the stockholders in dividends all it cost to build it; but the old adage comes in with force here, "better late than never." The world has been turned upside down in its war experience, and railroads have made and built up cities in the midst of what was a wilderness a few years before. The Great West has been made to spring up and blossom like the rose by the magic power of these life giving railroads.

Surely, surely our city is about to awake from the lethargy in which it has intrenched itself behind its natural advantages, and is now taking a look at the Bismarck efforts that are being made to carry off from our city all our natural advantages for manufacturing iron, glass, &c.

There is a gentleman now in this city who is trying to establish it as a fact to our citizens, that iron can be manufactured cheaper eight hundred miles west of of here than in this place. Now there may be some truth in what he represents, in one view of it. He says that the cost of making iron is being increased every day by the increased demand for coal and other things that enter into the cost of manufacturing it. If this is so ought not our iron men to be up and doing and see to it that the means of supplying these articles, such as coal, &c., which enter so largely into the consumption of the city in its various ramifications, are equal to the consumption, at least. Yes, if possible, they ought to concentrate their efforts, and open up all the highways of trade, so as to flood our market with every article of daily consumption, and consequently cheapen it to the lowest possible extent consistent with the prosperity of the city as well as of those who furnish the supplies, who must always have a living or they will abandon the business and let it fall into the hands of the few.

Well, sir, my opinion is, that the building of the Pittsburgh, Virginia and Charleston road will do more to accomplish this than any road projected to or from our city. In addition I am informed that there are at certain points on the line of the proposed road immense deposits of iron ores of various kinds, some of the finest quality in the world, that will be of easy access to our city when this road is built. I do expect to hear of our people doing something handsome soon in this matter.

ZETHER.

A Voice From Fayette County—How the Secheads are Viewed by our Neighbors.

PERRYOPOLIS, FAYETTE CO., PA., September 20, 1870.—Editors Gazette: Sirs: Enclosed you will find seventy-five cents, subscription for six months to your Weekly. Please send the same to my address. I will get you up a club in the winter, as soon as I get time. I don't like Bob Carnahan's Reform movement, and the rest of them. His paper, the Commercial, is worse than the copperhead papers. They want to beat a soldier and elect a copperhead, which would be a shame; but some people have not got any of that article. If they had, they would not have held office under A. Johnson.

Nothing more, but remain,
Yours, truly,
J. W. McCREERY.

Democratic Consistency.

The Kansas Democracy, in their State platform, call for "the reduction, if not abolition, of the hateful and oppressive internal revenue taxation."

The Democracy of Illinois, in their State platform, in effect demand the repeal of the tariff, which would strike off all external, or import taxation.

Between these two "planks", we greatly wonder what kind of taxes the Democracy would levy. To adopt either is to repudiate the public debt, destroy the National credit, and stop the wheels of Government. To advocate both at once, is quite consistent with Democratic tactics in different localities, and about as near uniformity in creed as they ever get. In Kansas, they want a tariff and no internal taxes, while in Illinois they want internal taxes and no tariff. Do the leaders really know what they do want?

A WONDERFUL PETRIFACTION.

A Murdered Man Becomes a Witness Twenty Years After Death—Treasure Trove—A Tough Story.

The Saginaw papers have an account of a petrified human body now in that city, en route to the State Fair at Jackson, Michigan. They say it was found on the bank of the Detroit river, a few miles below Detroit, but neglect to state why it should be taken around by Saginaw to be got to Jackson. This petrifaction is described as the color of sandstone, of the size of an ordinary man, which it resembles in all external details, and weighing about 600 pounds. The Enterprize gives the following narrative as coming from those who have the petrification in charge:

"Over twenty years ago, near the city of Wyandotte, a stranger appeared one night at a little hut, and desired from the inmates lodgings for the night. He was a large, powerful man, and seemed to be traveling for some secret purpose. During his stay it was ascertained by those who lived in the hut that he had a large sum of money, and the inmates determined to get possession of it. During the night he was enticed into the adjoining woods, and then murdered. Those who took his life, it would appear, buried the man's money near the beach, and also the body of the unfortunate victim. The man was missed, and search made for him and his effects, but nothing could be found to throw the least light on the affair, and it passed out of the memory of those living near at hand, and the mysterious disappearance was, in fact, looked upon as a legend of the oldest settlers. The people had forgotten it, but a party whose movements were directed by a clairvoyant, were near the spot where the man was buried, and they dug indefatigably for a treasure said by that "seer of hidden things" to be buried in the soil near the water's edge. They, it appears, knew that the action of the water had caused a receding, and that where was formerly a sort of beach was now under the water at least eighteen inches. Not discouraged by this, they worked hard at night, and in secret, pretending to have other business which compelled them to watch the shore. During their search for treasure trove they came upon something very hard, and thought they had at last struck their treasure. They worked patiently all night, and struck a coffin as they thought, but the giving away of the surface, and quick stopping of further operations made them believe there was something beside money in the hole. After working for an hour or two, they found beneath the sand the perfect figure of a man, turned to stone by the continual washing of the sand affiliation of the minute particles with the decaying flesh of the dead man. They were cemented and made a substance as hard as stone itself, and equally heavy. The outlines of the figure were kept perfect, even to the eyelids and the wound in the skull where the man was struck with the weapon, which broke his skull on the back part. The gash is apparent, and the skull not only flattened and broken, but cut open like a fissure in a rock, only it is more regular. One of the strangest features of this wonderful petrification is that it was, when first discovered, very soft on the outside, and on being exposed to the air grew hard immediately, and now is a perfect conglomerate in all parts. The muscles of the arm, of the foot, of the shoulders, of the neck, and the veins of all parts of the body are shown perfectly. The legs, in lifting the weighty body, broke off, and also one of the hands, but they were secured, and show perfectly the position of the man when deposited in his wet and sandy bed. The figure is lying on its right side, with the hand raised as if to ward off a blow, and the other arm, from which the hand has been broken, lies along the side, with the arm bent from the elbow to the abdomen, and the hand near the right thigh. The right leg is crushed up a little, but not over the other, as if there were a sort of spasmotic action of the muscles before the death occurred. This position indicates that the man was hastily put into the box, thrown into a hole, and smeared over with sand. In taking it up the two legs were broken, but they fit nicely to the body, and the form is that of a man of large size and fine development. The face is placid and well defined. The lips, nose, eyes and entire contour of the face are perfect, but there is a part of one ear missing (said to have been amalgamated with the sand, or to have decayed back to the original dust). The veins are clearly outlined in all parts of the body and stand out life-like and well defined. Traces of the hair are visible and the whole form is perfect."

Languages of Europe.

The following table shows, in round numbers of dwellers of Europe, independent of their political divisions, descent or sympathy, as they speak habitually their different languages. We give it as shedding a great deal of light on the struggles of the various nations of the continent:

SALVIC.
Russians and Ruthenes (the latter in West Russia and East Galicia)	55,000,000
Poles	9,000,000
Czechs (including the Slowaks of North East Hungary)	6,000,000
South Slavonians (including the Bosnian Musselmen)	5,500,000
GOTHIC.
Germans (including their settlements in Hungary and the Polish, Russian and Rumanian Jews)	52,000,000
English (including English-speaking Irish and Scotch)	30,000,000
Scandinavians (Danes, Norwegians, Swedes and Icelanders)	6,250,000
Dutch and Flemings	5,000,000
LATIN.
French and Walloons	37,000,000
Italians	25,000,000
Spanish	16,000,000
Portuguese	4,000,000
Rumanes	7,000,000
A DUO.
Magyars......6	2,500,000
Finns	1,250,000
CELTIC.
Welsh	1,000,000
Irish, Gaels and Monze	1,000,000
Bretons of France	1,100,000
Greeks	3,250,000
Turks and Tartars	3,500,000

Besides these are the Albanians, Arnaouts, Armenians of Turkey, the various tribes of the Caucasus, the Basbues in the Pyrenees, the Lapps and Samoyedes near the Polar Sea, the Wendes in Eastern Saxony, the Half-Arabs of Malta, the Lettes in East Prussia and Lithuania, and some other small ethnic remnants in other parts of Europe.

The Temporal Condition of the Papacy.

When the Italians are installed in Rome the civil administration will be beset with a number of first and perplexing difficulties. The chief one of these will be the matter of public finance—a list of embarrassments to which the King of Italy has already become slightly familiar in Florence. The Papal Treasury budget is really in a bad way, notwithstanding the contributions of the faithful during the Council. The civil executive of Rome has not published a regular budget of income and expenditure during the past four years. One of the latest and most reliable exhibits of the Treasury Exchequer Department of His Holiness shows that the annual revenue of the Papal Government derived from the usual sources amounted in 1864 to 25,000,000 francs, or $5,000,000. The public debt at the same date was stated as follows:

	Francs.
Consolidated	150,000,000
Rothchild and Barodilloan	110,000,000
Pensions, charges, donations	90,000,000
Loan of 1860	50,000,000
Consolidated (March, 1861)	10,000,000
Consolidated (November, 1861)	30,000,000
Loan of 1863	20,000,000
Total	460,000,000

So that in the beginning of 1865 the Pope was commercially speaking, insolvent, if to owe one hundred millions of dollars in gold, and to be unable to pay the interest, deserves to be called insolvency. Besides his territorial revenue income the total result of five years' collections of Peter's pence was thirty-seven millions of francs, or about five and one-half millions of dollars, or seven millions and a half of francs, annually contributed by two hundred thousand Catholics—something less than ninepence sterling a head.

Why Andy Johnson is Again Tooting His Bugle.

Whatever effect upon the public mind this (Gallation) speech of Mr. Johnson's may have been calculated to produce, its influence was destroyed, in the manifest eagerness of the speaker to point the moral of his sermon by alluding to the election of the United States Senator by the next General Assembly(?) What credit for sincerity and disinterestedness the speaker may have obtained by his plausible parade of self-sacrificing and wounded patriotism, vanishes before this significant allusion. If there was any doubt before, that Mr. Johnson was still in the field for a seat in the Senate, it is now removed, to the edification of the feeblest comprehension. Mr. Johnson wants to go to the Senate. Desires to occupy the seat Mr. Fowler is about to vacate, and to which Mr. Cooper has already been elected. Hence the presence of the ex-President at the capital in the time of his country's peril. Hence the Greeneville resolutions. Hence the speech at Gallatin. O tempora! O Moors!—Nashville Banner (Conservative) Sept. 20.

THE Dean of Wells has resigned the living of St. Cuthbert in that city, inasmuch as it has been proved that it is illegal to hold it with the deanery. The dean has held both since 1854. The living is worth £800 a year. A question arose and was submitted to the law officers of the Crown, whether the dean had not forfeited his deanery.

ST. LOUIS MAGNETIC SPRING WATER.
This most wonderful Magnetic Spring is attracting from its novelty and peculiarities the attention of the World. During the summer of 1869, while the Company were boring for Salt, a vein of water was struck flowing with such force as to throw the stream several feet above the surface. It was found to carry a powerful current of Electricity or Magnetism, which marks it as one of the most wonderful of Nature's Curiosities. The Water has been proven to possess most remarkable curative properties, being particularly effective in cases of Rheumatism, Paralysis, Gravel, Kidney Complaints, Dyspepsia and all nervous diseases. Sold at
JAMES E. BURNS & CO'S DRUG STORE,
Cor. of Penn and Sixth (old St. Clair) Sts.

TRUST WHAT TIME HAS SANCTIONED.
The maxim that the voice of the people is the voice of the divinity, may, in some cases, be open to doubt, but the testimony of honest and enlightened witnesses, extending through a series of years, and all to the same purport, is worthy of credence, admits of no question. Upon such testimony the reputation of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as an antidote and cure for many ailments is based. During the twenty years that it has been before the world innumerable preparations intended to compete with it, have gone up like rockets and come down the extinguished sticks. Meanwhile the progress of that incomparable tonic has been swift and steady—always upward and onward like the eagle's flight. Its introduction produced a revolution in therapeutics, and it proved to be one of those salutary revolutions that cannot go backwards. To-day Hostetter's Bitters is one of the most popular remedies in christendom, and commands a larger sale than any other medicinal preparation, domestic or imported, on this side of the Atlantic. As a cure for dyspepsia, billious disorders, nervous affections, general debility, and as a preventive of epidemic fevers, it take precedence of every other remedy. This fact should teach the ambitious country dealers who endeavor to foist their local abortions on the public in its stead, how futile their small attempts to cajole the community must necessarily be. Where the game fish have failed there is no chance for the "suckers."

GRATES! GRATES! GRATES!
Keep Your Houses Clean,
AND SAVE FUEL,
BY USING THE
Wellman Patent Reflector Grate.
WHICH STANDS WITHOUT A RIVAL.
We claim for it the following advantages over any other in use:
1st. As a radiator of heat it has double the intensity.
2d. It is unquestionably the most cleanly—very little soot or ashes escaping into the room—which in the ordinary Grate, proves so detrimental to carpets and furniture.
3d. The combustion is perfect. There is no waste in unburnt cinders—every ounce of the fuel is so completely consumed, that nothing remains but the finest ashes.
4th. As an economizer of fuel—there being an actual saving of at least 25 per cent.
5th. It is highly ornamental.
6th. It is not so deep in the chimney, that it is much safer, and also less liable to puff in windy weather.
7th. A slight motion of the shaker cleanses the entire fire, and causes it to burn with great brilliancy and intensity of heat.
Samples may be seen and references had at the store of W. BARNES, corner of 3d avenue and Market street, Pittsburgh; W. F. GOODWIN, 65 Federal street, Allegheny, or at the FOUNDRY, corner Duquesne Way and Water street, Pittsburgh.
Parties who are building, or who contemplate changing Grates, are respectfully requested to examine "The Wellman." Satisfaction guaranteed in all cases.

PITTSBURGH MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, September 23, 1870.

The drouth which has prevailed for the last few weeks is beginning to create some apprehension, as it is feared that it will seriously damage the winter wheat crop which has just been put in; and, furthermore, as the pasture is already considerably injured, it may have some effect on Butter and Cheese, and other articles that are affected thereby. It is singular that after having so much rain all through the summer that a drouth should set in just at a time when there is usually plenty of rain; there has been some rain both east and west within the past week, and the indications this afternoon were favorable for rain here soon, and it is earnestly hoped that there will be as it is badly needed. Not only does the country need it, but our rivers are not navigable even for the lightest class of boats, and there is no doubt but what a resumption of navigation would tend very much toward improving general business. There are a good many points along the Ohio River between Wheeling and Cincinnati, that are accessible to Pittsburgh only by water, and if the Parkersburg, Portsmouth, Zanesville and Cincinnati packets were all running, trade generally would be very much benefitted.

APPLES—Continue to arrive freely, and with a supply somewhat in excess of the demand, the market is weak though prices are unchanged. [illegible]

ASHES—Common soda ash, [illegible]; refined, [illegible]; Pearls, [illegible]; Pots [illegible].

BEESWAX—Sales at 33 to 35 cents.

BUTTER—Is dull though strictly prime roll still commands [illegible]. There seems to be little or no demand for the common or medium grades, and the stock of this kind is accumulating.

BRAN—Sales of new crop at $1.75@2 per bushel.

BROOM CORN—Continues to arrive freely and the market is dull with a supply considerably in excess of the demand, though prices are unchanged, at [illegible] per ton.

CHEESE—Is in good supply and lower, with sales of Ohio at [illegible] cts., the outside figure for Goshen.

CEMENT—Sales Louisville Hydraulic at [illegible], and Calcined Plaster at [illegible] per bbl.

CIDER—[illegible]

CRANBERRIES—[illegible] have made their appearance, and as yet, the supply is meagre. We quote at [illegible] per bbl for prime cultivated.

CARBON OIL—The demand is only moderate and prices are unchanged, ranging from [illegible] cents for standard brands in new barrels.

CORNMEAL—Continues dull, though stocks are light, and prices unchanged, [illegible] per bushel.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, September 23, 1870.

The oil market continues firm and moderately active, with considerable inquiry for both present and future delivery, and prices, as compared with yesterday, are a shade higher. The advices from the east continue favorable, indicating that exporters are taking hold pretty freely, and this accounts for the fact that notwithstanding the shipments both from here and Cleveland are large, there is no accumulation at the sea-board, and this is the principal reason why, in face of the present unusually large and steadily increasing production, the market is firm and prices strong and tending upward. As we have previously stated, the indications are favorable for a steady and healthy trade during the remainder of the season.

CRUDE.

Market more active and prices higher and tending upward. Sales in lots of some 7,000 bbls for September at 10⅜; 2,000 seller till October 15th at 10⅜; 3,000 first half October at 10; 5,000 seller all October, at 10. Seller all year 9⅜; buyer all year, 10⅜@10⅜.

REFINED.

Market strong but quiet. September quoted at 26⅜; October 25⅜; November 25; buyer all year 26⅜. Sale 3,000 October at 25⅜, which is an advance of a quarter, as compared with yesterday.

PITTSBURGH IRON MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, September 23, 1870.

Metal market more active this week, sales being unusually large, aggregating about 400 tons, and while the general feeling is stronger there is no quotable advance in prices. The stock of favorite brands of standard forge irons is pretty well reduced, and some of the furnaces have contracted ahead which nearly all are pretty well sold up. Following is a report of the sales for the week:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT an application will be made at the next meeting of the Legislature of Pennsylvania for the incorporation of a Savings Bank, entitled the Homestead and Real Estate Savings Bank, to be located in Birmingham, with a capital of $100,000, with the privilege of increasing the same to $500,000. JUNE 27th, 1870.

RIVER NEWS.

The river is at a stand with about 15 inches in the channel. Weather cloudy and warm with indications of rain.

The new steamer Thirteenth Era, arrived from Brownsville yesterday, and as will be seen by card, she is announced to depart for New Orleans and Red River to-day. She was constructed especially for the Red River trade by Capt. J. H. Kouns, and being of very light draught, she is admirably suited for that trade.

The new steamer Brill, Capt. Auld, arrived from Brownsville yesterday, and returned again last evening. We may have something more to say about the Brill in our next issue.

The local inspectors report the following steamers built at the port of Pittsburgh from January 1st to September 1st, 1870: Arlington, Juniata, City of Evansville, Far West, Red Wing, Lake Superior, Trader, Fontenelle, Granite State, R. J. Lockwood, Exchange, Carrie Converse, Exchange, Mollie Moore, and tow boat N. J. Bigley.

Com. W. J. Kountz contracted on Wednesday with Hartupee for a pair of low pressure engines for a mountain steamer.

—The Sioux City Journal, of Friday, says: The Huntsville is loading with sugar and coffee for Grand River and Port Rice; she will take 200 tuns, and clear to-day. The Peninah is loading with 180 tuns of corn for Grand River, she will leave Saturday. The Deer Lodge will make a trip up the river before she goes to St. Louis for repairs. The Farragut passed Yankton last Wednesday thirty-six hours from this place. The North Alabama and Andrew Ackley are expected to-day.

—The Cincinnati Commercial of Thursday says: Capt. Wm. C. Newton, arrived from New Orleans, by rail; and was among the Abeona's passengers for Gallipolis last night on a visit to his family. He has sold one half of the New Orleans and Red River packet Tidal Wave to Capts. Jno. Kouns and W. T. Scovell, the latter taking charge of the boat. Capt. Newton will return South in a short time.

—The Madison Courier says of one of the clerks of the Juniata, now running in place of the Gen. Lytle: Taylor Fenton has retired from the river, and is, we are informed, to enter as book-keeper in one of our leading commercial houses. It is also rumored that this is the initiatory to another step—namely, a step out of the state of "single blessedness."

—A Catlettsburg (Ky.) dispatch under date of Wednesday says: The steamer Kate Henderson struck a root three miles above Burlington, Ohio, tearing a large hole in her knuckle about seven feet long, and sunk in water just over her guards. No freight was damaged. Capt. Sam Hamilton is going to raise her as soon as possible.

—Pendleton Landing, on the Arkansas river, five miles above the post and sixty-five from the mouth, sent over one hundred bales of new cotton to Memphis during the month of August. Considerable more than was sent from any single point.

—Capt. Shallcross, the hull inspecter, has been in Memphis for several days past. He is there to examine into the condition of several of the local packets. He went through one or two during the past day or two and found them correct.

—A steamboat commander, who inspected the work of the Portland Canal, is of the opinion it will not be completed for the passage of steamers this year. He carefully counted the laborers at work, amounting to 627, all told.

—The new steamer Zebra with her crane has again been at work on the wreck of the Rebecca at Parkersburgh, but much of the wreck is still unremoved.

—It is thought that one cause of the trouble at Blannerhassett bar is the long Cederville gravel and sand bluff, which is constantly depositing on the bar.

—The Lorena was to have left Portland for New Orleans on Thursday and the Kate Putnam was to follow on Saturday.

—The J. S. Neal sunk a barge loaded with coal Tuesday in the channel opposite the Newport ferry landing.

—The towboat Little Condor and several barges are stuck on Guyan.

—The Memphis steamer Dardanella has a deck crew of Chinamen.

—Mr. Ross Powell is clerk on the Moille Able.

—The repairs on Magenta will cost $16,000.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, ALLEGHENY COUNTY, ss.

In the Orphans' Court of said county, No. 4 of June T., 1870. Estate of Frederick Wendt, late of said county. In partition.

To Harriet Wendt, Frederick Wendt, and Christian Wendt children of George W Wendt, deceased, a son of Frederick Wendt, deceased, grandchildren of Frederick Wendt, the testator, and Elmira W. Patterson, daughter of Frederick Wendt, deceased, son of the testator; Chas. F. Williams, John H. Williams and Mary, children and heirs of Sarah Williams, deceased, who was married to Rev. Samuel Williams, and to said Rev. S. Williams, Jno. Jones, intermarried with Susanna Sullivan, deceased, and Mary Ann Jacobi, and Wm. S. McKee, a son of Charlotte McKee, dec'd.

You are hereby notified that an inquest will be held on the premises first hereinafter mentioned on Tuesday, the 25th day of October, A. D. 1870, at 10 o'clock A. M., to make partition among the divisees of said Fred'k Wendt, deceased, and their assigns of all that lot of land situate in the borough of Birmingham, Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, being lot No. 1 in the Glass House plan. (see Deed Book, vol. 19, page 122,) beginning on the south side of Neville street, at the eastern line of Dr. Bedford's plan; extending easterly on said street fifty-eight feet, and extending back southerly, preserving the same width one hundred and forty-four feet.

Also, of all that certain ground rent of twenty-five dollars per annum, issuing out of part of lot No. 36 in James O'Hara's extension of Pittsburgh, bounded by Third street, by ground now or lately of John Obey and John Kelly, and ground late of Samuel Kingston, deceased, containing thirty feet in front, and extending back thirty feet, to ground late of John Abey.

At the execution of which inquest you may attend if you think proper.

ALLEGHENY COUNTY, ss.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, to the Sheriff of said County, Greeting:

{SEAL} Whereas, The Mayor, Aldermen and Citizens of Allegheny, did on the 12th day of August, 1870, file in the District Court in and for the County of Allegheny, a claim for the sum of ninety-six dollars, with interest from May 14th, 1870, and five per cent. additional thereto, against all that certain lot of ground in the Third ward of the City of Allegheny, situate on the North side of Henderson street, fronting on said street twenty-five feet, and running back about one hundred and fifty feet to High street, bounded and described as follows, viz: Beginning on the North side of Henderson street at a point distant two hundred and seventy-five feet east of Federal street; thence east along Henderson street twenty-five feet and in depth North parallel to Federal street one hundred and fifty feet, of which owner or reputed owner is unknown. Said claim is for the sum of ninety-six dollars, and being for expense of grading that part of Henderson street extending from Federal street to Sandusky street. And whereas, the said plaintiff claims to have a lien on said premises, of which said owner is unknown, &c., for said sum of $96, and which sum still remains due and unpaid to said plaintiff. Now we command you, that you make known to the said unknown owner that he be and appear before our Judges of our said Court, at a District Court to be held the first Monday of October, 1870, to show if anything he knows or has to say, why the said sum of ninety-six dollars should not be levied on said premises, according to the form and effect of the Act of Assembly in such case made and provided, if to them it shall seem expedient; and have you then there this writ.

Witness the Hon. M. HAMPTON, President of our said Court at Pittsburgh, the 13th day of August, A. D. 1870.

In the Orphans' Court in and for said County, No. 5, March Term, 1870.

{SEAL} In partition: In the matter of the estate of James A. Gibson, deceased. August 29th, 1870, petition to Court.

To Nancy M. Gibson, Thos. Gibson, Mary (Gibson) Blair and her husband Henry C. Blair, Annie M. (Gibson) Martindale and her husband F. G. Martindale, Robert C. Gibson, James Gibson, Sarah W. Gibson, Rachel D. Gibson, Wm. H. Gibson and Mitsey Gibson.

And now, to wit: August 29th, 1870, the within petition having been presented and read in open Court, the Court, upon consideration thereof, do grant the prayer of said petitioners, and order and direct a rule to issue upon the heirs and all parties interested in the partition of said real estate to be and appear before the said Court on the eighth day of October, 1870, at 10 o'clock A. M., and then and there to accept or refuse to accept said real estate at its appraised valuation, or upon refusing to accept the same, to show cause, if any there be, why said real estate should not be sold.

All parties interested will take notice of the above sale.

BY THE COURT.

The greater part of the road is already completed, and the earnings from the finished portion are already more than sufficient to pay operating expenses and interest on the bonds. The balance of the work is progressing rapidly, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this line, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition, and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors as, in every respect, an undoubted security.

These bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the Company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at no distant day to command a market price considerably above par, besides paying about 9 per cent. currency, interest in the meanwhile. U. S. Five-twenties at present prices only return 5 per cent., and we regard the security equally safe.

HOME NEWS.

City Councils will hold a regular monthly meeting on Monday.

Contractors will find an opportunity to bid on the building of a church at Bridgeville advertised in to-day's paper.

Iron manufacturers and others see advertisement of iron ore land for sale, in the Juniata Valley, by A. M. [illegible].

John Lindsey says an Amazonian female, Bridget Berger by name, struck him in the mouth with her fist. Alderman Taylor has issued a warrant for her arrest.

The Republicans of Birmingham Borough will meet at their usual headquarters, Monday night, to suggest candidates for Borough offices, to be nominated at a subsequent meeting.

Louisa Williams was charged yesterday, before Deputy Mayor Nichols, with stealing $5 worth of bed clothing from the house of Richard Morsbuck, on 13th street. Louisa will be arrested.

The maintenance of a ferocious dog which bit Patrick Carrol on the lip yesterday, will doubtless cause William Weyman some trouble, as the injured party has appealed to Alderman O'Donnell who has issued a warrant.

Abandonment.—Martha Nevergold made information before Justice Heisel yesterday charging her husband, Christ. Nevergold, with abandonment. The parties reside in West Washington. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Christ.

Serious Accident.—A little child three years of age, daughter of Frank Roeller, residing on Penn avenue, met with a serious accident yesterday. It was playing on the sidewalk when it fell, breaking its collar bone. Dr. Clark was summoned and reduced the fracture.

John Schubert owns real estate in Allegheny and yet has turned his wife and her two children out into the "pitiless world," so says the lady Margaret Schubert who last evening enlisted Mayor Callow's official sympathies in her behalf. John will be talked to by the Mayor.

Disorderly.—Louis Roithenstern, a youth nineteen years of age, is the stepson of Mr. Emery, who alleges that Louis is generally worthless, and that he gets drunk and acts in a disorderly manner. Justice Heisel, before whom complaint was made, issued a warrant for the arrest of Louis.

Smash Up.—A light wagon or buggy belonging to Mr. Morgan was wrecked at the corner of Market and Liberty streets yesterday by coming into contact with a wagon. One wheel was torn off, and the occupants, a lady and gentleman, were thrown out but neither of them were seriously injured.

Collision.—About half-past five o'clock last evening a carriage belonging to Mr. Kaercher, in which his family were returning from the city to Oakland, collided with a coke wagon on Fifth avenue, near Pride street. One wheel was broken and the occupants were thrown out. No one was seriously injured.

Lover of the Weed, if you have never tried any of the cigars manufactured by Megraw, at No. 45 Ninth street, go there at once and purchase a supply, and then enjoy the delicious luxury of a smoke, perfect in all that can make such an exercise enjoyable and delightful. Megraw has everything in the tobacco trade on hand at 45 Ninth street.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 22, 1870.—Messrs. Editors: In the name of humanity, we return to you our hearty thanks, as we do to all the Press of Pittsburgh, both American and German who, except one paper, have inserted free the advertisement of the subscription in favor of the French wounded, widows and orphans. In the name of the Committee, A. Dansa.

Died from His Injuries.—Conductor Fox, who was so fearfully injured one day last week while coupling freight cars on the Allegheny Valley Railroad, near Thirty-Second street, died yesterday morning from the effects of his wounds. He was in every respect a competent and worthy man, and much esteemed by his fellow employes. He was married.

Revenue Receipts.—The gross receipts of the Mechanics' street bridge, for the month of August, amounted to $1,051.09. The Pleasant Valley street Railway, for the same month, did a business of $1,296. These receipts were reported to the Assessor of the Twenty-Third District. There is a revenue tax of two and a half per cent. on the receipts.

Y. M. C. A.—The monthly meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held at their rooms this evening. There will be interesting reports of the past months' work, an address on "Our German Young Men" by Rev. J. H. Steuchenberg, an earnest speaker and writer, and music by the choir of the Third Presbyterian Church. Ladies and gentlemen are invited.

A man who has a penchant for whipping children, should always be careful they are not his neighbors, otherwise he is likely to get into trouble, as was the case with Mose [illegible], of Allegheny, who horsewhipped Albert Ross Menian. The mother of Albert Ross was wroth thereat and laid her complaint before Mayor Callow, who last evening sent for Mose.

Contracts Awarded.—The Street Committee held a meeting last evening and awarded the following contracts for street improvements: [illegible] street, grading [illegible]; paving $1.42; curbing [illegible], to Peter O'Neal. Miller street, grading 40c; paving $1.29; curbing 70c, to John Finn. Twenty-sixth street J. J. Booth. Beech Alley, Peter O'Neal. We could not ascertain the bids on the last two named.

The elegant Queensware which attracted so much attention at the recent Fair come from the Keystone Pottery of Messrs. Kier & Co. The enthusiastic encomiums which the Keystone ware there received from all who examined it, was but a repitition of the praise it has everywhere been accorded. There is no superior to the Keystone in the market. Call at the warehouse, 363 Liberty street, and look at the stock.

Market House Committee.—The following gentlemen have been appointed a committee to carry into effect the resolutions passed at the market meeting held in the Fortieth street (Lawrenceville) school house on the 2[illegible] inst. Fifteenth Ward.—Martin Hoyle, Jno. O'Brien. Sixteenth Ward.—William Buehler, H. W. Cimiotti. Seventeenth Ward.—J. C. Duffen, H. J. Moore. Eighteenth Ward.—John M'Masters, Wm. Smith.

The Monthly Visiting Committee of the Board of Poor Directors of Allegheny City yesterday visited the City Poor Farm. They were accompanied by a number of prominent citizens, and made a thorough inspection of the place, house and farm. Everything was found in a satisfactory condition. The Superintendent, Mr. D. T. Johnson, thoroughly understands his business, and does it—such was the unanimous opinion of the visitors.

Man Drowned.—William Whinnie, a laborer employed at J. C. Risher & Co.'s saw mills, on the river, a short distance above McKeesport, was drowned Thursday morning. He was engaged in floating a "float" of logs from a raft to the landing, when he fell into the water and was drowned, before assistance could reach him. Coroner Clawson was notified and held an inquest on the body yesterday, when the jury returned a verdict of "accidental drowning."

Put Him Off.—The rights of Passengers on a street car are likely to be tested. Yesterday Thomas Foley complained to Alderman Taylor that he had been choked and forcibly thrown from car No 29, Citizens Passenger Railway, because he had nothing but a five dollar bill with which to pay his fare, and which the conductor could not change. This is one side of the story. The other will be made clear at the hearing in the case, which comes off to-day.

Unreliable Seamstress.—Yesterday Mrs. Mary Hotchley related a sad tale of misplaced confidence to Alderman Irwin. She had employed Elizabeth McBride, a seamstress, to make her a dress, and for that purpose furnished her with the material valued at twelve dollars. Elizabeth, she says, however, failed to perform her part of the contract, and further aggravated Mrs. Hotchley's grief by obstinately retaining the dress material—which in a legal sense is larceny by bailee. The magistrate so decided, and issued the papers accordingly.

Dropped Dead.—A valuable horse belonging to Mr. Roddy Patterson dropped dead yesterday evening about five o'clock, on Sixth street, between Penn and Liberty. The animal with its mate were hitched to a carriage about two o'clock to go to a funeral, and when ascending the hill to Uniondale Cemetery the driver noticed something wrong. As soon as he reached the Cemetery gate and unloaded the carriage, he started back to the city, driving very slowly, and upon arriving at the point named the horse fell and died almost instantly.

Broken Friendship.—A pack of cards, valued at forty cents, was missing from the saloon of John Connolly the other day. The circumstance caused a coolness between Connolly and his mutual friend, William Murphy. Ultimately, this state of affairs resulted in cross suits before Alderman Taylor. In the first Connolly charged Murphy with larceny—stealing the cards. Murphy retaliated by [illegible] in a legal way that Connolly sold liquor on Sunday. Alderman Taylor yesterday had the parties before him. The hearing will be concluded to-day.

Our Commercial Readers in town and country are referred to the advertisement, in another part of this paper, of John S. Dilworth & Co., a wholesale grocery house of long standing and of the highest reputation for strict fidelity in filling and promptness and care in shipping all orders. Their stock will at all times compare favorably in extent and variety with the best houses in the east, and as their current sales are extensive, they are constantly replenishing it. Just now their stock of coffee, tea, sugar, molasses, tobacco, &c., is unusually large and offered at prices which are so low that western merchants on their way to Philadelphia or New York are often tempted to buy their groceries from this house, finding it to their interest to do so.

It is due to Messrs. Dilworth to say that at the recent Inter-State Fair a premium was awarded to them for the best Richmond Tobacco. It is also note-worthy that they have started two elegant street wagons to facilitate delivery of goods to their numerous customers in both cities and all the boroughs.

A Forced Dispensing.

The other evening an incident happened which might illustrate the infelicity of married life. Two men, the little the worse of benzine, were enjoying a ride in a buggy on Liberty street when they came across two women, both married, and asked them to take a ride. They accepted the invitation and got into the [illegible]. One of the vehicle [illegible] [illegible] fell out of the vehicle, losing [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]. On being taken to her boarding house, No. [illegible] Wylie street, her husband refused to [illegible] and her husband would [illegible] more to do with her. Her [illegible] [illegible] on her and with her [illegible] on Wednesday evening for parts unknown.

THE COURTS.

District Court—Judge Kirkpatrick.

FRIDAY, September 23.—The case of Johnson's executors against Shaffer, reported on trial yesterday, was resumed and had not been concluded when Court adjourned.

Common Pleas—Judge Sterrett.

FRIDAY, Sept. 23.—In the case of Bailey, Farrell & Co., vs. S. P. Rose, previously reported, the jury returned a verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $8.17.

The first case taken up was that of H. Gerding vs. A. J. Barr. Action to recover for goods sold and delivered and work and labor done. Verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $33.33.

TRIAL LIST FOR MONDAY.

Quarter Sessions—Judges Stowe and Collier.

TUESDAY, Sept. 23.—In the case of the Commonwealth vs. Wm. Bechtold, indicted for adultery, previously reported, the jury failed to agree and was discharged.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. Mrs. Nancy Albaugh, indicted for keeping a bawdy house, reported yesterday, was resumed and submitted to the jury, and a verdict of not guilty and the county to pay the costs was rendered.

THE O'BRIEN HOMICIDE.

The first case taken up was that of the Commonwealth vs. Edward Davis, indicted jointly with William Griffiths, for the murder of William O'Brien, at Soho, on or about the 6th of September.

On motion of Mr. Marshall, one of the counsel for Davis, a severance was granted and Davis was put on trial.

HISTORY OF THE CASE.

On the evening of the sixth of September Edward Parks and William Price got into a quarrel, which they agreed to settle by a fight, and went out for that purpose. The ground selected for the conflict was near the coke ovens, above Soho, and after the fight had begun O'Brien, who appears to have been one of the seconds to the parties, pulled Parks off Price, stating that the parties had agreed to have a fair "stand up fight." Davis, it was alleged, then made an attack on O'Brien, whom he succeeded in knocking down, and Griffiths, it was stated, kicked him on the neck, or the side of the head, and that immediately after receiving the kick O'Brien fell over and expired.

Messrs. Marshall and Owens appeared for the defendant and Messrs. Fetterman, Coyle and the District Attorney for the Commonwealth.

Some two hours were occupied in empanelling a jury after which the court took a recess until half past one o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

At half past one court convened, and the case was opened on the part of the Commonwealth, by John Coyle, Esq., who briefly related the circumstances under which the deceased came to his death and the connection of the accused therewith.

THE TESTIMONY.

Dr J. H. Roberts, sworn—Am a practicing physician; held a post mortem examination on the body of deceased; found the seventh bone of the neck latterally dislocated; a contused and lacerated wound on the forehead and a similar wound on the jaw; the stroke on the neck dislocated the neck bone; death must have followed instantly as the compression of the dislocated bone on the spinal column would have stopped the action of the heart instantly. Had the stroke dislocating the neck been delivered while the deceased was on his feet he would have fallen instantly and could not have arisen from the ground.

Dr. Hutton was sworn and corroborated Dr. Roberts in the main points. He agreed with Dr. Roberts as to the fact that death would follow instantaneously the dislocation of the neck.

Michael Honan, sworn.—I reside at Soho. Was at the fight. Ed. Parks and Wm. Price went out to have a fight. They got into a rough and tumble and Parks got on top. Price called for some one to take him off, and O'Brien went in to take him off, when Ed. Davis struck him. O'Brien threw up his hands and started back. Davis struck him four or five times, and the next thing I heard was that O'Brien was dead. I did not see any one but Davis strike O'Brien. Don't know what killed him.

Thos. Barker, sworn—The testimony of this witness corroborates that of the former witness and he further states that Davis knocked O'Brien down twice and then left him and started back towards where the men were fighting. Bill Griffiths then came up and kicked O'Brien on the left jaw while O'Brien was in the act of getting up, and he then kicked him under the ear. Griffiths then called to Davis to come away, and they left together. O'Brien showed signs of life for several minutes after receiving the kicks.

Mrs. Catharine Trainor and Mrs. Hanlay were sworn, but their testimony was in substance the same as that of other witnesses who saw the affray.

Edward O'Brien was the next witness. His testimony was the same as that given above. He testified that after the man was killed Davis and Griffiths went into the mill.

Edward Griffin was sworn, and testified to what occurred, as related by other witnesses, and in addition said that Bill Davis first struck O'Brien, and then Ed. Davis struck him. He saw Crowley rush into the crowd, but could not say whether he struck Davis or not.

James Bradley was the next witness. His testimony developed no new facts.

Thos. Duffey was sworn, but there were no new facts developed by his testimony.

Wm. Price was the next witness. He saw nothing of the difficulty between O'Brien and Davis, as he was engaged in the fight with Parks.

Michael Gallagher was the next witness. He testified that he went to O'Brien after he had been kicked and found him lying on his back insensible but that his pulse was still beating. He further stated that O'Brien lived about eight minutes after he was injured.

THE DEFENSE.

The Commonwealth here rested, and Wm. Owens, Esq., offered the cause for the defense. The theory of the defense was that the injury inflicted by Davis, as shown by the Commonwealth, did not cause the death of O'Brien, and as the Commonwealth had failed to prove any preconcerted arrangement or connection between Davis and Crowley or Griffiths, the man who it is alleged inflicted the fatal blow, the defendant could not be held responsible.

William Adams sworn—Saw the fight; Davis was at home when he heard of the fight and he came down to the ground and said the parties should not fight; he said that Parks was too old to fight Price, and that he would stop the fight; O'Brien stepped in and said that he was Price's friend, and that the parties should have a fair fight, and pushed Davis back; Davis then struck him.

At this point the District Attorney stated that after consultation with the private counsel in the case, he thought it his duty to state that he could not under the testimony ask a verdict of guilty even of manslaughter. He deemed it his duty to make this statement to the Court.

The testimony here closed and the Court charged the jury that under the testimony a verdict of guilty could not be rendered.

The jury returned a verdict of "not guilty," and the prisoner was discharged.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—Mr. Barrett, the eminent tragedian, was the recipient of a benefit at the Opera House last evening, on which occasion "Hamlet" was produced, with Mr. Barrett in the title role. Having seen Mr. Barrett in Rosedale, we expected to see Hamlet well played, but had no idea that he would personate the character so faithfully. In many respects his Hamlet is better than Booth's. His reading is faultless, and his stage play, which is very much after Booth's style, is but little, if at all, inferior to that of the latter. The Ophelia of Miss Noble was remarkably good, as was also the Laertes of Mr. Gossin. The other characters were well sustained, particularly that of the grave digger by Mr. Irving. Rosedale will be presented at the matinee this afternoon, and also this evening.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The entertainments at the Academy of Music continue to be well patronized by both ladies and gentlemen. The Fiske burlesque company created quite a sensation last night with "Handy Andy," and the olio performance at the opening of the entertainment was excellent. A grand matinee will be given this afternoon for the accommodation of families, and the regular Saturday evening performance this evening.

VARIETIES.—This old established place of amusement has improved wonderfully in every respect under the management of Mr. Aims, and it is in fact a first class varieties show. The novelties and attractions are numerous, as will be seen by the bills.

New Goods! New Goods!—New fall goods just received at the New Stand Stocking Store, No. 30 Fifth avenue.

Delicious Ale—First Premium Awarded J. M. Carson & Co. for the Best Cream Ale by the Inter-State Fair.

There was on exhibition at the recent Inter State Fair a modest looking half barrel of cream ale which, from the brand on the outside, made many a thirsty and dust covered visitor on the grounds sigh because not one of the judges, whose superlatively great privilege was to drink from the cask, when dry. It was J. M. Carson & Co.'s celebrated cream ale, which was entered for the prize, and which of course was in due time awarded the first premium for its purity and general excellence. The Judges were Messrs. Wm. Hamilton and W. R. Elliott, and we are sure they made no mistake in their judgment and discrimination in favor of this, all the praise of which has long been almost universal. After the ale had been passed upon the exhibitors placed it on free tap in the Committee room adjoining the President's headquarters, and as many as an hundred connoisseurs were invited to partake of the delicious and health-giving beverage. They did so and the unanimous verdict was that the ale could possibly have no superior. An English friend, who had never before admitted that our ale even approached in excellence that made in the great breweries of his own land, went into ecstacies over his glass of beautiful foaming ale as it came bubbling forth as pure as crystal and too tempting to resist, from that prize barrel, and exclaimed, "Well, the time 'as come when we 'ave the 'ops to make h'ale as good as merry H'england h'ever saw." He was converted, and so would all liberal minded Englishmen be brought over to a keen appreciation of the American ale if such a quality as that brewed by Messrs. J. M. Carson & Co. was presented them for an expression of opinion as to its merits and superiority. The cream ale, a specimen of which took the first prize, is intended for family consumption, and for the dinner table and sick chamber. It is light, full of life and nutrition, and commended in the very highest terms by the medical profession as pure strength-giving and blood-warming. The other ales brewed by Carson & Co., whose establishment is one of the largest and best appointed in the State, located on the corner of Duquesne way and Barker's alley, are also of superior quality and have attained a national reputation. Orders from families in the city, hotels and saloons delivered promptly, and shipments by rail or river made in safe packages.

Base Ball.

Yesterday afternoon an interesting game of base ball was played between the Atlantic club of this city and the United of Wheeling. It will be remembered that in a former game in Wheeling between these clubs the United came off victorious by a score of 11 to 9. Yesterday the tables were turned and the result showed 25 to 11 in favor of the Atlantics. The play on both sides was good as a general rule, and the result was pleasant at least to the majority of spectators, who of course favored our home club. Mr. John Fox, of the Osceola club, performed the duties of umpire to the satisfaction of players and lookers on. The time for the return game has not been agreed upon.

The Secretary of the Atlantic Club is in correspondence with the White and the Red Stockings with a view to getting up matches with them upon their eastern tour. Both of these clubs are to come east before the close of the season, and there is a strong probability that each will take in this place on the route.

The Osceola and the Atlantics play at Union Park next Saturday.

The Medical Times, a Semi-Monthly Journal of Medical and Surgical Science.

The eminent publishing house of J. B. Lippincott & Co., of Philadelphia, has announced its intention to commence on the 1st prox., the semi-monthly publication of a periodical bearing the above title, to which a large number of eminent professors and practitioners of Philadelphia, New York and other cities are pledged to be regular contributors.

The large number of Hospitals, Medical Schools and Medical Associations in Philadelphia render that city probably the best point in the whole country for the ingathering of all that is new and valuable in the Science of Medicine and Surgery. The high professional character of the pledged contributors, the brevity of the intervals of publication, and the unsurpassed facilities of the enterprising publishers, are so many assurances that the forthcoming work will be of the highest excellence, and that it will be, as it will well deserve to be, a more acceptable and useful journal of its class than any of its predecessors or contemporaries.

Approach of Winter.

The Summer days are ended, and the Autumn winds are sighing now. The roses that bloomed in the gardens, in the yards, in the deep woods, will soon be gone. The leaves will rustle a while longer, and turning brown, will fall in the quivering Autumn winds. The atmosphere has already been tempered by the snow locks that are advancing from the future. The sky has lost its brazen mask, and its tranquil depths are tinged with a softer hue. The season is changing and admonishes us that we should also change our clothing, from the thin Summer suit, to the more comfortable fall garment, and the place to go for such goods is the elegant establishment of Messrs. Hespenheide & Co., No. 50 Sixth street, near Penn. Since they have refitted, their store has been replenished with an entirely new stock of goods of the most beautiful styles, which they are prepared to manufacture into suits for gentlemen, youth and boys. All who wish to be dressed in stylish, neat-fitting suits will not forget to call at Hespenheides', No. 50 Sixth street.

Brown's Autotypes.

One of the most pleasant places for amusement seekers to spend an hour or two pleasantly within the city at present is at the exhibitions of Brown's Autotypes, at Gillespie's new Art Gallery, on Wood street. The collection embraces fac simile copies of numerous works of art by the old masters, as well as many modern works, and is the finest ever presented for public inspection in this city. The agent, we learn, will deal in liberal terms with any of our public institutions desiring to purchase the collection or any portion of it. It comprises over eight thousand specimens of different subjects. The agent has visited all the principal cities in the east and nearly all of them have secured at least a portion, if not a full set of the collection.

White Goods.—A large and well selected stock of Ladies' Underwear, regular make, just received at the Department Store, at 75c to $1 and $1.50. These goods are of fine quality and decidedly cheap. Look at them before purchasing. No. 59 Fifth avenue.

LARCENY.

A Countryman Robbed of One Hundred and Fifty Dollars—Arrest of the Alleged Thief—He is Held to Bail for Trial.

Gentlemen coming to the city from the country should be careful into what establishment they go to take their "benzine" and should be equally careful about making acquaintances. City acquaintances may be a good thing to have, but unless a stranger has some one to vouch for them, he should be shy of new acquaintances. A countryman was "taken in and done for" Thursday night to the amount of $150. He was passing along Sixth avenue and went into a saloon where he met a gentleman, as he supposed, with whom he soon became on intimate terms, so very intimate that he had exchanged cards with his new made friend, the card he received bearing the name of Jas. F. Johnson, No. 253 Penn street. Mr. Johnson invited him to drink and he drank, but he had no sooner swallowed the liquor than he felt that he had been drugged. Not suspecting his friend he proposed to leave the place, and they both left together. When passing Patterson & Co.'s livery stable, on Seventh avenue, the new found friend proposed to Abraham Dunbar, the countryman, to go with him into the alley, stating that his father lived in there and he wanted to see him. Dunbar refused to go on the ground that it was too late to disturb the old man, but insisted upon Johnson going with him to the Rush House, where he said he had a room. On arriving at his room, Dunbar ordered up the drinks and was soon gloriously drunk. He went to sleep, and when he awoke some hours afterward he discovered that his friend had gone, and that $150, thirteen tens and a twenty dollar bill, had gone out of his pocket book. The twenty dollar bill had been marked by himself so that he could identify it if the thief could be captured, and he described the mark upon it to Captain Rees of the night police, to whom he made known his troubles. Officer Gillespie came in the office while he was there, and after getting a description of the thief started out and succeeded in finding a man who answers the description, who proved to be Thomas Steel, at Fisher's saloon, on Diamond alley. Steel was taken to the Captain's office and searched, when a $20 bill having the mark described and several tens were found on his person. He was locked up and yesterday morning Dunbar identified him as the friend of the evening previous and also identified the twenty dollar bill. Information was made against Steel charging him with the larceny, and when brought before the Mayor he waived a hearing and was held to bail for his appearance at Court.

The New Market House.

MESSRS EDITORS—The attention of the committee having in charge the selection of a site for a market house for the accommodation of the citizens of the Sixteenth, Seventeenth and Eighteenth wards, is invited to a very eligible plot of ground on Forty-third street, running through to Forty-second street on the Line of the Allegheny Valley Railroad and in close proximity to the new Ewalt Street Bridge. The advantages of this lot are beyond all doubt superior to any other presented. First, its central position. Second, being opposite the Lawrenceville Station of the Allegheny Valley Railroad, from whence a vast amount of marketing could be daily received and unloaded without expense of drayage. Third, being near the southern terminus of the above bridge, that it would obviate the necessity of a market house at the northern end of the bridge for many years, thereby accommodating a much greater number on each side of the river than could any other property now in contemplation. It is therefore apparent to all concerned that no more desirable location can be secured covering all the advantages possessed by this property.

No wiser selection could possibly be made and inasmuch as a market place is intended to accomodate the greatest possible number and at the same time be located conveniently for country people who bring their garden and farm products to market, this site especially commends itself to the public. It is to be hoped that it will receive that attention as a site which it merits, and for which it is warmly recommed by those who are assured that it can be purchased at a reasonable price.

MANY CITIZENS.

The Mercantile Library.

The above is the caption of an article in the GAZETTE, of the 20th instant, in favor of the new system of locked cases in the Mercantile Library. If, as the supporters of the Library claim, it will be a pleasant and instructive place to take a friend, when on a visit to our "Smoky City." As a member, I enquire of what benefit or pleasure will it be to take such an one to, when the books are locked up in their cases? How much better to take him or her, as the case may be, to a well furnished book store, where you can examine and welcome to your own satisfaction, and that of your companion, and no locks to interrupt you? Of what significance is it to exhibit a large and well finished building—yourself convinced that under its present rules no prosperity can be expected? The writer also claims that locked cases are adopted in almost all well-to-do Libraries. For his benefit I will state of my own personal knowledge, that in the "Mercantile Library of Philadelphia," no such system is adopted—books being free to any visitor who chooses to pay them a visit. Why not here? The only objections I can see to have the cases open, as heretofore, is the loss of a few books and extra work to the Librarian—objections easily outweighed by an extra Librarian, if necessary, an increase of membership, and proportionate satisfaction. A LADY MEMBER.

Burnell's Museum.

The great changes made at this popular family resort during the recent brief vacation astonishes us. The Parlor Menagerie has been removed to an added story above, and, in connection with the enlarged Happy Family, is entirely distinct from the lower halls, which have been fitted up with rich and appropriate cases, in which have been deposited Professor Worth's great collection of Japanese, Chinese, Siamese and other oriental curiosities, over ten thousand in number, all collected by himself, and each having an interesting and personal history given in detail by the Professor. The platform of the Lecture Room is occupied almost every hour during the day and evening by Pittsburgh's favorite, Mr. Welser, whose feats of juggling and conjuration are unequalled, and whose magical and ventriloquel powers attract, interest and amuse crowds of ladies and children. Admission, only, 25 cents; children under ten, 15 cents.

Great Attraction at W. W. Moorhead's, No. 31 Market street. It would be impossible to enumerate all the varieties to be found in his store. Everything in Ladies' and Misses' Undergarments can be had there. Moorhead's is the great emporium for Ladies' Dressing Goods. Another lot of those ten-tucked skirts just received, at the small sum of one dollar each. Call and see them. A good six-tucked skirt for 75 cents. Ladies, call at Moorhead's and examine these goods.

The Elegant Dining Room of J. B. Youngson, corner of Smithfield street and Diamond alley, is open at all hours of the day, and until midnight. Ladies and gentlemen can have a feast set before them in a few moments' notice, and prepared in a style which could hardly fail to tempt the appetite of the most dainty. Fine confectionery, foreign fruits, pastry, &c., may be had at Youngson's.

The Weekly Gazette.

The WEEKLY GAZETTE is the largest, cheapest and best family newspaper published in Pennsylvania. It presents each week, in convenient quarto form, forty-eight solid columns of reading matter, original and selected, and made up to suit the wants of country readers. It is thoroughly reliable in politics, advocating the protection of home labor and the general principles of the great Union Republican party. Carefully edited agricultural columns, prove a valuable feature to the farmer, while the Literary, Religious, Political, Telegraph and General News departments are kept up to the fullest requirements of a live, progressive, enterprising and successful family newspaper. The dry goods, grocers, and produce markets are freshly and correctly reported in each edition, and the full reports of cattle sales and operations here and elsewhere for the current week are regularly furnished. Two editions are made, one on Wednesday and one on Saturday, in order to suit the country mails, and subscribers should designate which day's publication they desire. A very limited number of unobjectionable advertisements are published in the WEEKLY GAZETTE, as the space is too valuable to be used for other than news purposes.

Terms per year: One copy, $1 50; in clubs of five, $1 25; in clubs of ten, $1 15, and a copy gratuitous to the getter up of the club. Specimen copies are sent free post paid to any address.

Wanted.—Five good canvassers for Allegheny county, for the "Photographic Family Record," a fine engraving 20x24 inches in size with ten oval spaces for photographs of parents and children, or near and dear friends. KITTANNING has a three legged chicken.

THERE are fifteen prisoners confined in the county jail at Mercer at present.

IRON ORE of superior quality has been discovered in Jackson township, Cambria county.

A PARTY of mechanics have taken steps for the erection of a new rolling mill at Danville, on the co-operative plan.

ARMSTRONG COUNTY boasts of corn twelve feet high, and the ears eighteen inches in length, and all well filled.

THE total population of Cambria county, according to the official figures furnished by Marshal Murdoch, is 36,572.

THE Hollidaysburg jail is said to be full of inmates, no less than seven having been added to the number in one day last week.

A NEW Methodist Church is being built at Girard, Pa., at a cost of $30,000. It will be dedicated by Bishop Simpson early in October.

ONE thousand dollars were transmitted from Erie to the German Aid Society in New York, for the care of German wounded soldiers.

A CENSUS taker in Adams county, this State, reports "Ulysses Grant Hoffman, female, two years of age, daughter of Alfred Hoffman, farmer."

ERIE stands eighth in the list of lake cities. Those having a larger population being Chicago, Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit, Milwaukee, Toledo, and Oswego.

THE gamblers following in the wake of Campbell's circus got $300 out of Freeport green ones. They were overtaken at Kittanning and compelled to disgorge.

THREE miners were badly burned at Johnstown, on Tuesday of last week, by an explosion of gunpowder. Two of them, named Hines and Quirk, were very severely injured, and it is thought the former will lose his eyesight. The powder, about six pounds, was contained in a bag, and was set on fire by several hot pick axes (just brought from the blacksmith shop) being thoughtlessly thrown on top of it.

A NEW well was struck at West Hickory the first of the week, this is pumping fully 380 bbls every twenty-four hours. It is owned by Messrs. Grandin and Neyhart.

MR. H. DONALDSON, of Ebensburg, has discovered a valuable bed of lead ore, near Clearfield. He lately sent a quantity to an assaying office in Philadelphia, and was informed that the ore would return a handsome profit.

THE planing mill of Mr. Louis Plack, at Altoona, and a small frame house adjoining, together with a small lot of lumber, were destroyed by fire on Wednesday evening of last week, involving a loss of $11,000, on which there was only $5,000 insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown.

IN the country districts we hear of the trick of a new school of confidence men. The way of the operator is this: He goes to the house of a lady to sell perfumery. He allows her to "sample" all the goods, and finally gets her to smelling chloroform, puts her to sleep and ransacks the house. Beware of all essence pedlers.

THE difficulty among the Republicans of the Sixth Judicial District in regard to the nomination of a candidate for President Judge is still very far from being settled. Most of the Erie county Republican journals continue to advocate the election of Mr. Woodruff, although the Erie County Committee endorsed Mr. Westmore.

A MAN named Archibald Thomas either accidentally or intentionally shot himself to death in Phillipsburg, Centre county, on Friday evening last. The contents of the gun passed entirely through his head, entering at the right temple and passing out at the left one. He was a confirmed inebriate and dyspeptic, and may have been temporarily insane.

THE new well struck a day or two since, upon the James Kerr farm, Church Run, is doing fully thirty bbls of oil daily, and is owned by S. Fertig, P. T. Witherop, David Gray, and Jno. Wheaton. This well is located upon the west side of Church Run, upon what is supposed to be a continuation of the belt containing the Cadwallader, Tribune, and other producing wells, and is outside of any territory heretofore producing.

ONE of the menagerie wagons, connected with Campbell's show, broke down one night between Indiana and Marion. The wagon contained an American panther, measuring almost seven feet. The panther escaped from its cage, and at once assailed the driver of the wagon, inflicting terrible wounds upon his person. Fortunately another person accompanied the wagon, and through his and the driver's exertions, the panther was secured.

THE Washington (Pa.) Reporter of last week says: We learn that a number of farmers throughout this county have been swindled by parties representing themselves as being from Iowa, and who claimed to have the disposal of an agency for a celebrated improved grain-drill. In many cases these scoundrels duped our citizens by pretending to sell them rights, etc., and exacting in exchange their signatures to papers, represented to be agreements, but really being promissory notes. Several farmers in Amwell, Franklin, Hopewell and other townships of the county have been completely defrauded. Some months since we first heard of this rascality, and warned the public then against the swindlers, but it seems to have been disregarded. Farmers should be very chary about dealing with irresponsible agents.

A PARTY tried at the recent court in Montgomery county, for assaulting an officer made the point in his defence that the officer had no warrant for his arrest, whereupon the court defined the rights and duties of police officers as follows: An officer, as any private citizen, has the right and it is his duty to prevent a crime with or without a warrant; and where a breach of the peace is imminent he ought to interfere and arrest the offenders; and when he sees an assault committed he ought to make an arrest and follow in pursuit, with or without a warrant. Whenever the officer has the offender within his view at the time of committing the offense he has the right to make the arrest with or without a warrant. He has the power when the offense is committed in his view, but when he acts on the information of others he must have a proper authority. In this case the officer saw the affray or fight, which was stopped by his approach. He had a right to arrest the offenders.

THE old cathedral at Frankfort-on-the-Main, which was destroyed by fire a few years ago, is to be rebuilt at a cost of nearly a million of guilders. The King of Prussia has contributed the sum of 300,000 guilders for the purpose.

Important Death—A Cholera Corpse Hidden in a Cargo of Sugar.

The revenue authorities having reason to suspect that smuggling operations have been carried on to a considerable extent, detailed several special officers for services in the lower bay. Last Friday they went on board the brig H. G. Berry, then anchored in the Horse Shoe, near Sandy Hook. Mr. Fideau and his assistants, on nearing the vessel, noted a sickening stench, which was explained to them when they boarded the brig. Inquiring for the captain, they were informed that he had gone on shore with the pilot and four of his men. He then asked to see the vessel's manifest, but the mate said that the captain had locked it up, taking the key with him. At length the mate informed him that four of the crew had been taken down with the yellow fever. He added that the body of the captain was then in the lower hold of the brig. Discrediting the story, the officers prosecuted a search, and, descending to the lower hold, they found there, in contact with a cargo of sugar, the box containing the decomposed corpse of the captain.—N. Y. Sun, Sept. 19.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH, VIRGINIA & CHARLESTON R.R. Co. No. 61 Fourth Avenue, PITTSBURGH, Sept. 13, 1870.

IN ACCORDANCE WITH A RESOLUTION of the Board of Directors, passed this day, the books for subscription to the Capital Stock of this Company will be opened on MONDAY, 19th inst.

Captain W. W. MARTIN, one of the Managers, or Mr. —— JAQUES, Secretary, will be at the office of the Company each day, between the hours of 10 and 3 o'clock, for the purpose of receiving subscriptions and giving such information as may be desired.

The Board confidently expect that the citizens of Pittsburgh and the owners of property along the line of road will subscribe for sufficient stock to insure its completion.

It is believed to be unnecessary to dwell upon the fact that this road is essential to the prosperity of Pittsburgh, or to do more than simply direct attention to the wonderful traffic it will command, to induce those interested in the property and business of Pittsburgh, or desiring a safe and profitable investment to subscribe for the stock.
